WILL START MODERNIZAT'N CAMPAIGN HERE

Business Men To Form Committee ; To Canvas Arlington Hts.

Arlington Heights is to have a city-wide modernization and improvement campaign as part of the National Better Housing Program sponsored by the Federal Housing Administration.

An informal meeting of local contractors and building supply men was held in the village hall Tuesday afternoon, at which an organization committee was asked to secure an executive chairman and to call a meeting of all business men within the next few days.

Every person present Tuesday voted in favor of an Arlington Heights modernization campaign. A speaker from Chicago was present and explained that the first requisite of securing a share of the government money that will soon be available for the erecting of new homes in Arlington Heights, was the formation of a local organization. Without such a committee, Arlington Heights would be out of the picture.

The speaker told of the campaign that is in progress in Elgin and other towns; of the reception that has been given to the block workers by the property owners who desire to improve their property.

"The purpose of the campaign is to enable Arlington Heights to get as large and immediate benefits as possible from the National Housing Act.

"The Federal Government has provided a plan under which local lending institutions can make money available to property owners for repairs and improvements at the lowest charges ever offered for this type of loan.

"The purpose will be to inform every property owner in the city how he can take advantage of this new financing plan and of the desirability of making necessary improvements to his property at this time.

"This campaign will have an immediate and most important effect on every type of business in the community. It will, of course, benefit the building industry first, and there is no industry which has been harder hit than building and there are few which are so important to this community. But it will also have a direct effect on all other lines of activity.

"Approximately 75 cents of every dollar spent for repairs and improvements go to local labor. Most of the money they receive in wages is immediately put back into the channels of retail trade. Bills are paid. Purchases are made of food, clothing, and such necessities, then of other goods and luxuries."

DIRTY POLITICS

Mud throwing during a political campaign smacks of old time politics and should not be a part of this modern age. To the credit of both parties, the majority of the candidates in the recent campaign did not resort to such tactics.

Thus there is all the more reason to brand as plain bunk, the efforts that were put forth by certain interests to question the integrity of Noble J. Puffer, who was elected by three hundred, fifteen thousand majority as Cook County Superintendent of Schools.

Whatever were the reasons, revenge, or jealousy, that were behind the efforts of the interests who threw the mud, nothing was gained and there was no possibility of stopping the election of Mr. Puffer.

If it was done out of personal spite and a desire to embarrass Mr. Puffer, it was still fruitless. The legion of loyal friends that Mr. Puffer enjoys and the mass of congratulations from leading educators which he has received since the election has served to prove in the minds of thinking people, both Republicans and Democrats, Mr. Puffer's fitness for the office, his honesty, his integrity and the standards upon which he will conduct the affairs of the schools of Cook county, when he assumes his new position in August, 1935.

For the welfare of our two great parties, such unwarranted tactics should not go unpunished. There is no reason why an innocent citizen of this United States should have his character attacked just because he becomes a candidate for office.

SCOUTS BEGIN DRIVE FOR CASH, NEW MEMBERS

Two Months Remain To Reach This Year's Objectives

With less than two months remaining during which the year's objectives may be attained the Scout and Cub units of Arlington Heights and the Arlington district Boy Scout committee have been asked to participate in a huge council-wide program throughout the Northwest Suburban area to go over the top on its membership and finance objectives before December 31. District goals have been established on both items and a few key-men selected to give leadership and supervision to the plan.

Members of this group are: F. O. Proctor, Frank Ballard, Herman McElhose, W. A. Miles, Arlington Heights; Valentine Weber, Wyman Lahtinen, Mt. Prospect; John Barrett, Wheeling; Ben McBride, Grey Sanborn, M. Humphreys, Geo. Minniberger, Palatine.

The 1934 membership goal in the Northwest Suburban Council is 1,000 boys or 750 Scouts and 250 Cubs. Early this week the figure has reached a total of 669 Scouts and 217 Cubs. With a present membership of 108 Scouts and suggested objective has been set at 130.

Under the finance part of the program every troop and cub pack will be urged to lend its efforts to the completion of the district quota. Des Plaines has already completed its quota for 1934 and is continuing its efforts to get funds to carry through the early part of next year. It is expected through this end of the year effort that the other districts will follow suit and complete their share of the cost of maintaining the Scout program in the area.

All six districts of the council will participate. They are, Barrington district—including Barrington and Lake Zurich, Arlington District—including Palatine, Mt. Prospect, Wheeling and Arlington Heights, Des Plaines district—including Des Plaines and Schiller Park, the Park Ridge district and Niles Township district including Niles, Niles Center and Morton Grove.

Next Thursday will bring to a close the series of five weekly meetings of the University of Scouting being conducted by the Northwest Suburban Council at the Maine township high school. This series of training courses which started the latter part of October has attracted nearly 100 men from the various parts of the Northwest Suburban area.

Although next week will mark the final session of the general program, because of the nature of the two specialization groups they will continue for several additional meetings. These are the American Red Cross first aid course which involves 20 hours of training and the archery handicraft course requiring additional time to complete the work.

ANNUAL ROLL OF RED CROSS IS UNDER WAY

Drives Becomes Community Project in Arlington Heights

The annual American Red Cross roll call began in Arlington Heights yesterday as a community proposition under a new system which will make the Red Cross active locally throughout the year and not only during the roll call period from Armistice day to Thanksgiving.

A committee of 16 local people representing nine local churches and organizations is in charge of the work. The village has been divided into eight districts with two committee members as captains in each district.

These captains are enlisting volunteer workers to make a house to house canvass, each worker covering a small territory, about one block, and then handing on the roll call materials to the worker in the next small territory. While each worker will have only a few calls to make, the entire village will be thoroughly canvassed in a way to make this a co-operative community project.

Following the roll call the committee will form a permanent organization to function throughout the year. Work already scheduled to be done as soon as the reorganization is completed included preparation of preserves for the veterans' hospital and of clothing for children.

Mrs. Rexford Volz, 846 North Belmont avenue, Arlington Heights is acting as chairman of the committee during the roll call period and until the permanent organization is completed and permanent officers chosen.

Members of the committee are: Mrs. Volz and Mrs. A. H. Bowlin from the Women's club, Charles K. Klock from the American Legion, Mrs. V. Pecchia and Mrs. P. L. May from the Legion auxiliary, Miss Norma Meyer and Miss Dorothy Helm from the Junior league, Mrs. E. H. Heller and Mrs. E. H. Malzahn from the Lions club.

Mrs Howard Helm from the Methodist Episcopal church, Mrs. A. L. McElhose and Mrs. A. L. Folkman from the St. Peter's Lutheran church, B. O'Connell and L. F. Biederman from St. James Catholic church, and Mrs. B. Helfers and Mrs. H. Schad from St. John's Evangelical church.

Rollicking Farce At M. E. Church Nov. 22 and 23

Remember those "tear" cups which your great grandfather—or somebody else's Aunt Ulita—used to take along to the "meller drama" and tableaux of the early '70's to catch the salty tears when Little Eva told Uncle Tom goodbye? Well, if you've got a set of them up in the attic truck among the antiques, dig them out and take them along when you go to see the play, "Sound Your Horn" being presented at the Methodist Auditorium Thursday and Friday nights, November 22 and 23.

That, at least, is the suggestion noised about by one or two of the "kibbetzing" previewers of the rollicking farce who quite plainly insinuate that the lachrymal activity forecast will result from entirely different causes than encouraged grandpa and Aunt Ulita to weep.

In other words, "Sound Your Horn" promises to be a good evening's entertainment. The play itself is filled with plenty of wisecracks and comic situations, and the cast of well-known local amateurs is said to be putting considerable additional fun into it.

Seats for "Sound Your Horn" are being reserved now at Sieburg's drug store. Adult tickets are 35 cents and children's tickets may be had at the door the nights of the play for 20 cents. No reservations will be made by phone, it has been announced. Tickets may be purchased from members of either the Fidelis Circle or Fellowship class of the Methodist church, sponsors of the play.

The curtain will rise promptly at 8:15 o'clock, each night.

The cast of the play is as follows:

Christine Elliott—Mrs. Charles Emmett.
Theodore Webster — Robert Blackburn.
Mrs. Emmerson Van Dyke—Mrs. Eugene Heller.
Mr. Angus—Fred Utterback.
Etta Lamb—Mrs. James McElhose.
Jay Bird—Jack Everett.
Diane Webster—Mrs. Marvin Preilberg.
Mr. Beasley—Harvey Kapphahn.
Drusila—Florence Patrick.
Phyllis—Marjorie Sayres.

VILLAGE BOARD PASSES ORDINANCE ON BOND SALE FOR PWA WATER WORKS

250,000 Gallon Reservoir Assured for Village to End Summer Water Shortage; Softening Plant Suggested; Liquor Ordinance Interpretations Occupy Trustees.

(Mt. Prospect Review)

Mt. Prospect village board spent a long evening November 7 in the discussions of the business of the Village, and the various problems which came before them for settlement. A considerable portion of the time was devoted to expressions of opinions of different members of the Board on the question of the status of clubs which sell liquor, under the present liquor ordinance. The problem of dancing in taverns, and beer parlors also came before the Board. The latter part of the session was devoted to the discussion and enactment of the ordinance which makes official the selling of Water Department bonds to the Federal government, to cover the expansion of water supply facilities.

O. K. Reservoir Ordinance

The ordinance on the construction of the water storage reservoir was the same as has been discussed previously, and its passage was a routine matter. The project, in its early stages, was the subject of a public hearing, which was for the purpose of determining the type of improvement desired by the citizens of the Village. At that time consideration was given to both overhead tank and ground-level reservoirs, and it was decided to construct a concrete basin which will hold about 250,000 gallons of water. The objections which were raised at the time of the hearing to the elevated tank were considered sufficient to indicate the ground level more desirable. This project will also include the installation of additional high-capacity pumping equipment for pumping the water from the reservoir into the lines. At present the storage is limited to the capacity of the elevated tank, which is 25,000 gallons, which is only enough for a few hours maximum use. The rate of pumping from the wells is limited by the output of these wells, and the limited capacity of the tank makes it impossible to run the pumps all night, since they must be stopped when the tank is full. With the additional storage capacity, the wells can be pumped as long as the reservoir is not full, and the high-capacity centrifugal type pumps can be run at a rate higher than the maximum usage, so that the elevated tank can always be kept full, and proper pressure maintained. This improvement is recommended by the engineers as a fire control measure of great importance, since the amount of water available with the present tank is not enough to provide adequate protection, even if it were possible to keep it full at all times.

Softening Plant Requested

At the time of the public hearing there was a suggestion that the improvement should include a cost to the village of between $6,000.00 and $10,000.00. Those who recommended this plant as a part of the project felt that the economies which would result, to the people, in savings in soap, softening materials and in longer life of clothes would make it a paying proposition. The total cost to the Village of this softening plant, which would make the water almost as soft as rain water, was represented as being about the cost of 50 softeners of the type used in homes, and the cost of operation would be less. The question of the water softening plant came before the Board again last Wednesday, with a communication received from a citizen who suggested that the matter be given consideration and offered to circulate a petition to bring it before the Board for action. The trustees indicated in the discussion that they could take no action on the softener question in the obsence of indication of a public demand, but stated that a petition, if one were presented, would be given consideration.

Liquor Ordinance Discussed

The classification of "dance halls," in connection with the liquor ordinance came up through a request of one of the local tavern men, who had been informed that dancing was not permitted in taverns unless a special dance hall permit be obtained at a cost of $100.00 in addition to the license fee required under the liquor ordinance for the dispensing of alcoholic drinks. Village President Herman F. Meyn, who, under the state law, is Liquor Commissioner, interpreted the law as prohibiting the operation of a dance hall in connection with a tavern. Attorney Thal gave his opinion on the matter to the effect that patrons of the tavern have the privilege of dancing in such space and to such music as the tavern provides, but that, under the ordinance, a tavern cannot provide an orchestra nor charge for dancing. He explained that these provisions were to prevent taverns from becoming a public nuisance, rather than to limit the privileges of customers.

The discussion of the interpretation of the ordinance where it refers to clubs was brought before the Board, by Trustee D. W. Budlong who represented the Veterans of Foreign Wars. According to one interpretation of the law, a club has the same privilege as a private home in that no control of the use of liquor is legal. The payment of a license fee covering public affairs conducted by the Club at which beer is sold, was considered justified, on a daily permit basis, and if the club paid an annual fee, the daily permit was considered unjustified. Mr. Meyn, who is responsible for the interpretation and enforcement of the ordinance, had ruled that the license required of clubs which wish to sell beer to their members is to be paid on the basis of the number of members, and that this license fee does not give any right to the club to sell liquor to other than members. His ruling was that a daily permit is necessary if the club is to sell to the public. The situation with reference to the V. F. W. clubhouse was taken as an example in the discussion which was on the general question of the rights of any club under the present laws. Attorney Thal was asked to give his interpretation, and his opinion agreed with Mr. Meyn. He explained that a club does have the same rights as the individual members in their own homes, as long as the club does not sell liquor to its members, but merely brings to the clubhouse and consumes liquor on the premises. However, according to Mr. Thal, when the selling of liquor to its members is a part of the club business, a license fee is required.

Land Bank Loans In Cook County Total $298,900

Farmers of Cook county have received $298,900 in land bank and commissioners' loans from May 12, 1933, the date of the passage of the Emergency Farm Mortgage act, to October 1, 1934, according to Walter L. Rust, president of the Federal Land bank.

This sum of money, the majority of which was used to refinance farmers' existing debts, represents two types of loans—land bank and commissioner's loans. The land bank loans are made on the security of first mortgages to an amount not to exceed 50 per cent of the normal value of the land and 20 per cent of the value of the buildings.

Commissioner's loans are made on first or second mortgages. The sum of the first and second mortgage may not exceed 75 per cent of the normal value of the farm based on its agricultural earning power. The loans have been made on the basis of the present production of the land and the prices farmers receive for their products during normal periods.

Hunters Must Keep Out Of Forest Preserves

Hunting in the forest preserves is taboo.

Emmett Whealan, president of the board of forest preserve commissioners has issued a warning with teeth in it.

Anyone caught hunting pheasants, quail or rabbits, or any other kind of game in hunting season or out of it, in the forest preserves, will be arrested and prosecuted and their rifles will be taken from them. A special patrol of 50 policemen during the present hunting season will be on duty to see to it that the "no hunting" warning means no hunting, President Whealan said.

What is the news? I do declare
Distracting news flash everywhere
Some bring good news, and some bring bad—
And most give thanks for all they've had.
Weddings and funerals equalize—
In joy, or sorrow, and surprise
Armistice Day right nobly spread
Deserved memorials for the dead
Monday, loud headlines told of quakes—
And how our state, in terror shakes
News flashes, not quite understood
Bring warnings thus: "Will you be good?"

Now will these wrangling statemen (so called), behave, and quit stirring up war, in our own land.

Better be good neighbors and patronize the country store.

Mrs. S. Fehlman, with her son Mr. and Mrs. Martin Fehlman and daughter, Dorothea, went to Chicago Sunday to visit the Chrysanthemum show. A magnificent indesertable display of gorgeous flowers of innumerable variety. We are grateful to the gunmen who did not disturb our meadow home during the hunting season. Yet we do agree that so many broke our village laws and shot inside the limits, even on home premises. This is too bad.

Inquiring about turkeys for Thanksgiving. We learn that the branch of the Chidley family in charge of the Turkey ranch near Palatine have in their round up between six and seven hundred turkeys. We can remember way back when that number would have afforded one turkey for every family in Arlington Heights. Now look at the over grown turkey number, in this spread out on relief town.

And not in one a single cheat.
What's in that corner? Since you quiz
Just "Rummage" through and find "As Is."

Woman's Club Notes

The club met Wednesday, Nov. 7 for a literature and drama tea.

Mrs. B. T. Best, chairman of the committee introduced the speaker, and honor guest of the day, Mrs. George A. Harriman.

Opening the program by reading a number of the prize poems of the state contest in 1933.

Her charming manner of presenting these poems would have enabled even a common place poem to win a prize. Mrs. Harriman reviewed—giving excerpts from the book "Desk at the Grove," taking her audience in rapt attention. Suffice it to say Mrs. Harriman's program was an informing and delightful treat to all who were present. The local club chorus gave pleasing numbers and three of Mrs. Mitzlaff's pupils gave vocal solos.

Mrs. Wm. Franke acted as secretary pro-tem.

Treasurer reported balance in treasury of $285.41.

Mrs. Glow presented three new members on behalf of membership committee: Mesdames May, Hahn and Swanson.

Mrs. Briggs voiced an urge for the club to support the better films since they have asked for them.

Mrs. Grigsby, chairman of education, reported that the committee expects to have a "Charley Chan" presentation at our local theater, December 5th. Mrs. Dodge reported that for the tour scheduled for November 21st luncheon has been secured for 50 cents per plate.

A vote of appreciation was unanimously given to all those who helped to make the Rummage sale such a gigantic success.

Mrs. Koeppel urged members of the music committee to persuade others to join with the incentive of the personal advantages in training they will receive.

The financial reports were encouraging beyond expectation. The President, Mrs. Jarvis, called attention to the fact that there will be no more meetings in the church until after the holidays. Also urged the members to be prompt in having their jellies and jams at Frambergs store no later than Tuesday, the 20th. These articles are to be taken to the city as part of the 7th district contribution to our soldiers in hospitals.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 11.

The Golden Text was, "He that cometh from above is above all: he that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth" (John 3:31).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit" (Romans 8:1).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through discernment of the spiritual opposite of materiality, even the way through Christ, Truth, man will reopen with the key of divine Science the gates of Paradise which human beliefs have closed, and will find himself unfallen, upright, pure, and free" (p. 471).

Many things happened since our last meeting, namely our Armistice Eve Ball which was a huge success and every one there had a swell time and if you think we are kidding ask Warren Parker. Warren said he had one swell time and said it is too bad that we could have but one Armistice Eve ball per year.

At 11 a. m. on Armistice Day we assisted with the V. F. W. at the ceremony at the village green. In the afternoon our drum corps and color guard assisted at the dedication exercises at Palatine, sponsored by Palatine post.

Did you miss the dinner given the Post by the Auxiliary. If you did you certainly missed something. We must hand it to the girls as they sure put on a good spread.

The pies were extraordinary good and we make a suggestion right now which we hope Charles Page and his committee will take heed of—to get the cook to make us some of those pies for one of our meetings.

Vic Pecchia entertained us with a juggling act and he is the only juggler who can knock three cups together in mid-air, have two fall to the ground and not even crack them.

Les Griffith, Mrs. Palmer, Helen Klock, Jack May and Rubinoff rendered the musical numbers and Mrs. Pecchia was the soloist for the evening.

The cute remark of the evening goes to Mike Browne who chirped up—a little trouble with Chili ladies and gentlemen, but merely temporarily—this came about in a mix up on the song "Solo Meow" or something like that, anyway next time the ladies acts as hosts, take a tip be out.

Joe Bernhard, 9th district commander and Mrs. Bernhard were the distinguished guests of the evening.

COMING PICTURES AT THE ARLINGTON

Carl Laemmle's ever living "All Quiet on the Western Front" will have a one day showing on Saturday. In these days of talk about new wars and entanglements one has only to see this picture and realize how necessary it is that every thinking person must and shall oppose war and its pestilential aftermath.

"All Quiet on The Western Front" is now being run in the major theatres of Chicago and creating both a furor and long lines at the box office. The announcements of "Of Human Bondage," for an early date is also pleasant picture news. This is a remarkable and clever screen vehicle and follows closely the book and play. "The Man from Monterey," making up a part of the Sunday double feature is accounted the finest Western atmosphere drama in a decade. Requests for Shirley Temple in "Stand up and Cheer" will bring it to the Arlington soon.

Manager Godshaw attributes the fine attendance to the exceptional projection and new wide range Western Electric sound plus better pictures.

Capacity in Ampere Hours Counts in Storage Battery

Our good friend Mr. Winkelman the Willard Battery Dealer down at 113 E. Davis street, Arlington Heights, asks us to pass on a timely word of advice.

"Many car owners," says Mr. Winkelman, "are under the impression that the size of a battery case and the number of plates are true guides to the quality and power of a battery. This is not true, because plates can be made thin or narrow, and blocked up in a big case to look like a powerful battery. The only infallible measure of the life and performance of a storage battery is its CAPACITY in AMPERE HOURS, and to protect battery buyers the Society of Automotive Engineers has established standards of capacity. Every Willard Battery has its capacity MOLDED in the case—you know exactly what you are getting."

First Railroad in Ohio

The first railroad within Ohio, the old Mad River & Lake Erie, required 12 years to complete, from 1836 to 1848. Every pound of its iron came from England and cost $100 per ton.

Observers Notes

True friendship is a priceless thing,
In life man's greatest boast;
One oftenest your door bell will ring,
Is the friend who needs you most.
Life's phases and its friendships change
And as good or ill succeed,
So fortunes phases oft make strange
Friends who for you have no more need.
Yet friendship proves life's rarest gem
In friends who come when you need them.

The old saying, "A friend in need, is a friend indeed" depends on the way you place the need. We all need friends, and most of us are glad to help those in need of us. There is no greater joy than to be situated so you can bestow the needed help wnether material or otherwise.

On the other side, there comes to most of us in life a need, a hungry longing for the friends who understand how much we need their help. Who are ready to cheer and help us, very popular just now is that one who can deal out relief to humanity in need, are they friends?

Observe how grand it is to become a hero in spending other people's money. One may toil and save and work months and years to establish some good and enduring help for a town or a people, when in the end some other will come in spend the accumulated money and presto, the work stands accredited to one who never toiled labored and prayed for it. So easy to attain fame on other's money or efforts.

This "Country Store" coming this week brings to mind one of the first business places we noticed on our first entrance to Arlington Heights, was the store on what is now known as "Davis corner." High on the north wall we read in big letters the name A. G. Downs, dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, etc. Now we well knew the "Downs," the eight brothers and most of all their one sister, our music teacher and choir leader in the old church at Gardner where her husband was pastor.

Right here on this prairie soil stood the old country store, A. G. Downs proprietor. Mr. F. E. Davis had been in charge of the store as clerk at fourteen years of age, and a bearer of its burdens, name and fame long as he lived. In many ways the store and stock bore the character of the "Country Store," until autos, telephones and radios came into the picture.

You will find a reproduction of an old "Country Store" on the Vail Davis corner Friday, the 16th, so we will leave the subject here, only to say that when we came to this place in 1892 there was no delivery from any shop or store, no fresh fruit to be found. For fresh vegetables you had to raise them in your garden or go without.

At this date it would be a feature to induce repression if some one would start a contest to see who could refrain for the longest time from speaking of the late unprecedented election. All ready now, we begin.

The weather just now is a much safer topic, surely no one will be so contrary as to deny a unanimous vote in its favor, even give the victorious party credit for all this glorious autumn weather if it will help them to deserve success.

We are not pleased with this weathe.
Nor with views other people express;
We are sure when folks meet together,
They think too much of their dress.

We are not pleased with election,
Of our schools we cannot approve;
People make such a poor selection,
Of officials, and all that they move.

The weather? Too warm is this weather,
It is always too hot or too cold;
Thus we talk when we get together.
Find fault criticise, and scold.

Makes no odds, if poor as Job's turkey,
Or with Alladin's golden touch;
All things, to us will seem murkey
Because we think of ourselves too much.

Odd it is the way we judge people by their trade vocation or profession, and as often as we do this we are likely to make big mistakes. We heard a plain salesman today give an offhand analysis of the character of a group of our presidents far more correct than any we have read in the press or late histories and more correct than college lecturers have given. This man reads and thinks.

Observe each day it is the common little happenings of life that require courage to bear. Here, after a long week shut-in when went out for an hour, came home to find Margaret Telfer and her cousin Miss Elizabeth McKaye from Kenosha had called. They had been to the cemetery with flowers. Twenty-five years ago today (Nov. 10) Margaret wrote. "We laid father's body out there." So sorry to miss these dear friends. One of the common little things that try our souls or our patience.

"Rejoice in simplicity and Godly sincerity" especially do we have reason to rejoice if we find happily left, some who possess these golden characteristics in this world today, where so few dare to be their true selves, where so much of sham aid and so-called neutrality rule.

Wonder why it is we are such great big shams. Are we sincerely honest to ourselves when alone with ourselves, yet trying when with others to make something is all wool or pure gold, or diamonds to catch the popular approval when we know it is all a great big sham?

Here comes this little song sparrow that has for our many years in the meadow sang the same cheery song and sent out the same wake up banter, "You can't see me" no make believe in that little songester, not trying to sing another birds song, just his own true blue cheerio. We can't all be mockbirds or canaries, neither can we all be Mussolinis, Chicago mayors or national dictators. Stick to your own true convictions, be your true sincere self.

Down at Wilmington on the Kankakee, a near centenarian passed to the life beyond. Miss Charlotte Fisher, who, had she lived until April, would have been one hundred years old. Her true, kindly self, through the changing tricissitudes of life, a true gentle woman. When the Danials bank failed far in the past, it held a fund to provide for her a life time; by this failure Miss Fisher was left to provide for herself. This she did by teaching a select school. No murmurs, no complaints, as true to her work as her father was to his when the old Wisher mills, with its superior stones sent out the best flour and corn meal in all our state.

So Miss Fisher, true to her Christian profession, true to her belief in God and humanity, spent a busy, useful life. Many are the children who loved her and cherish her memory, always kind, always true, who ever feared her being led into sham beliefs or into false doctrines? She passed into the larger life, a true reliable friend to humanity and a true gentle woman.

"Unto thyself be true, and it must follow as night, the day thou can'st not unto any man be false." Had this advise been kept in this late election (one may say in all elections), there had been a different aftermath, yes an aftermath of changing sincere convictions or right into a hope for position or money. Let that pass, the sequel must come later on.

Here it is Monday, November 12 and at six this morning ten degrees above zero, yet the ice wagon is on its route. Fessler's milk and cream keep so well we don't need ice, but those who do can get it all right.

No, I wasn't born on a farm, yet the happiest days of my life were spent on a farm. The farmer who knows his soil and his business is the most independent man on earth never out of a job. Has his children educated in the best schools, poor crops always yield enough for his living. His home has all the modern equipments, light, telephone, radio and best current magazines and news.

Ashamed of being farmers?
Whoever dared say that?
The farmers have to feed him
And pay for his high hat;
They only pity that poor lob,
Who is always hunting for a job.

A little girl at school the other day was asked if her father was a Christian, and she said, "No sir, he is a democrat." Then a little boy was asked if his father was a republican and he proudly answered, "No he is a Methodist." Now tnese are true stories. But our farmers are now starting for Washington to set things right.

From the Prairie Farmer station we learn this morning that several hundred farmers from the western states are leaving Chicago on a special train for Washington. Now won't our statesmen, dictators and highups have to behave?

This is a glorious "near" winter morning. The sunshine so bright, the air so pure, and the sky so blue. How can people agitate war and harm to each other? Cheer up friends, and neighbors, "God is in His heaven" and all will yet be well. If we but do our part in carrying out our part in His service.

Where the blue sky over his head
In twilight shades to amethyst;
Or where the roseate walls of mist
Meeting the morn, flush deeper red.

He looks across the teeming land,
Where nature stirs to light again;
Waiting to sow on field and plain,
Earth's daily bread, got by his hand.
Though angry kings, at war may rage,
For greater might, or greed of gain;
And science searchers, keenly sage,
Still burn the midnight oil in vain.

Mid hunger pangs, in death's dark hour,
When famine devastates the land;
Men own the balance of world power,
Reposes in the farmers hand.

Build as they may, walls of empire,
Laden with gold their ships of Spain;
And with the wealth of all obtain
Fulfillment of each mad desire.

Burst every proud port of the earth,
Anchor their palaces of pride;
And under banners streaming wide
Pour out the purple wine of mirth.

From the luxurious Orient,
Still unto the far golden isles;
Their caravans with treasure sent,
Girdle the circuit of earth's miles.

Yet Joseph, of earth's Israel
The farmer, though his brother's strive;
Their households he will keep alive,
With corn his hand provideth well.

His harvest yields the nations bread,
And with a golden chain they bind;
Into one household, all mankind.
By hunger's pangs discomforted.

The far blue dome over his head,
When twilight shades to amethyst,
Or when the roseate walls of mist
Meeting the day flush deeper red.

The farmer, Lord of peace and mirth,
Whose God has given to his hand,
The power to form a golden band,
That binds the nations of the earth.

Elinore Crisler Haynes.

THE CHANGING WORLD

Not many years ago the open hearth was the kitchen range, the furnace and the lighting fixture all in one. What a hardship preparing a meal used to be!

A woman's workshop is her kitchen. Now, with the wonderful improvements of the past few years, hours spent in the kitchen are a pleasure.

Carding, combing, spinning, hours of monotony spent behind a droning wheel. This was the schedule when a member of the family needed new clothes.

What a change! Hundreds, thousands of beautiful, smart creations are at the disposal of the modern woman who is in need of new clothing.

Washday used to bring aching arms, tired backs, frayed nerves. The average family wash took two days of arduous toil.

How much simpler washday has become! In a few hours, with the help of modern appliances, laundry is done easily, leaving many hours for leisure.

The old-fashioned furnace used to be the cause of countless worries, a lot of drudgery. It was all a part of daily living.

But Today! No more dirt, soot or dusty ashes. No more trouble. Clean, reliable gas heat is practical for every home. Set a little thermostat and the winter's work is done.

Today..

Gas heat brings another joy to comfortable living

● How much easier, how much more enjoyable living has become since the advent of the automobile, the telephone, the gas range, the labor-saving household appliances. Modern devices, regarded as absolute necessities today, once were looked upon as merely newfangled ideas that cost too much to be practical. But their widespread acceptance, their undeniable advantages, swept aside every possible objection. Gas heat is proving every day to thousands of users that it is a practical, reliable and acceptable method of heating. You may be told that gas heat costs too much. The argument of cost has always been offered, as a last resort, when all other arguments have failed to convince. It was so in the case of the automobile, the vacuum cleaner, the gas range, the washing machine. Of course automatic gas heat costs more. But gas heat offers so much more, makes so many savings in money and labor, that it cannot be compared to ordinary heating methods.

Get the facts on gas heat now

We want you to learn the count[illegible] pleasures gas heat will bring to y[illegible] home. Here is our liberal proposition. We will install gas heat at our expense, remove it at our expense, if you don't like it. You invest not one cent for equipment. We will install a burner in your present boiler or furnace. While you are trying it you pay only a small rental during the heating months—only $3 a month for the burner in the average home. This charge is included with the bill for the gas you use. You try it for one month, two months, a year. If within a year you are not satisfied, we will take it out at our expense and replace your former heating equipment in good workmanlike order. But if you decide to keep gas heat—as thousands of others have done—the rental you have paid applies on the purchase price of the equipment. Get the facts now. Call your nearest Public Service Company office for details.

YOU INVEST NOTHING TO TRY GAS HEAT!

Gas heat can be installed without your investing one cent for equipment. To prove that every home can now afford to heat with gas, we'll install it at our expense—remove it at our expense, if you don't like it. Accept this startling offer. Phone your nearest Public Service Company office TODAY.

Knox Sets Record

Knox College of Galesburg set a new national football record Saturday when they lost their twenty-fifth consecutive grid contest at the hands of Coe by a score of 19 to 0. Knox won their last game October 31, 1931, when they beat Beloit 7 to 0. The former national record was held by Hobart college and established in the year that Knox started their losing streak. Knox also has the distinction of not having scored this season and may extend their streak in the game with Bradley tomorrow.

On the other hand Knox won the Little Nineteen cage championship last season and has excellent prospects for repeating. Helgeson and Myer, former Northwest Conference stars, are expected to see plenty of action on the court at Old Siwash.

Looking Back

We did not miss the final conference standings so very far at that in our pre-season prediction. We picked Libertyville for first and Arlington second. Arlington won and took the top. We picked Leyden to finish in third and they did. We picked Palatine to tie with Leyden for third.

We missed in that we figured the Pirates would win from Barrington. Warren ranked above the Pirates because the latter lost at Arlington. Barrington and Bensenville finished as predicted. Our predictions would have worked out in every case if Palatine had beaten Barrington and Libertyville downed Arlington. Those were our only slips. The two teams we failed to place were the two most hindered by injuries of any in the conference.

Greatest Passers

Bensenville finished their poorest season on record without scoring a point yet they completed the most forward passes of any team in the league. We don't have the records for the Barrington game, but in their four games with Palatine, Arlington, Warren and Leyden the Bensenville team tossed 55 passes and completed 38.

An unusual feature of the conference season is in the fact that for the first time in years there was not a single tie game to mar the schedule. In fact there were very few close games with only four out of 19 games being decided by less than a two touchdown margin.

Hail The Champs

Look in the Chicago Tribune for the photo of the champion Arlington team. It is scheduled to appear in the Sunday edition. Arlington did not have a really close call all season and played every school in the league.

The writer of this column wishes to congratulate Grose on a swell job of coaching and the Arlington team on a great season of play. The title was won against the best competition the conference has offered for many years. Five conference teams were stronger than last year. The more power to the Cardinals.

Steve's First Tackle

Steve Szasz, Arlington co captain and great back, had a new experience for the season in the last game with Barrington. Steve plays safety on defense and made his first tackle of the season. It is not that Steve cannot tackle them, but that the Arlington line and halfbacks had never allowed a man to get past them up to that time in previous conference games. Conn of Barrington has the distinction of making the longest run against Arlington, and Szasz the honor of bringing him down.

Palatine was supposed to open the conference season at Libertyville but it seems there is something going on in Libertyville which will interfere on Friday, December 7, so the coaches have arranged to play the games at Palatine on that date. The second meeting of the teams will be at Libertyville. This is a break in a way for Palatine, who will thus play their first two games at home.

No All-Conference

The Northwest Conference coaches voted a couple of years ago to ask the papers to refrain from picking all conference teams. They have followed this policy. We don't think so much of this policy, but this paper is following it because we want to co-operate with the coaches.

If one were to pick an all conference team the line would be mostly a combination of Arlington and Libertyville players. We are not picking a team, but we challenge anyone to pick one and leave off Zimmerman of Warren, Szasz and Gieseke of Arlington, and Kroll and Madden of Libertyville.

By RAYMOND E. HAYES

Arlington Heights high school's football team completed the winning of the 1934 Northwest conference championship by defeating Barrington 25-0 last Saturday in the final game of the season. The final smashing victory on their home field completed a series of six consecutive winning games for the Cardinals.

The bucking Bronchos from Barrington fought gamely and held the winners for a half, but were unequal to the task during the remainder of the game. Szasz broke loose for a touchdown on a run of 38 yards early in the second quarter. The score was 6-0 at the half.

Superior blocking, speed, and endurance began to show results thereafter, and the Cardinals picked up three more scores, Rohlwing going over the line twice and Weisgerber once.

Barrington put up one of their best fights of the year to really make Arlington work their hardest for a victory. They were handicapped from the very start by the loss of their best tackle, Muir, who twisted a knee so severely that he was unable to play during the remainder of the game.

An accident of this nature tends to demoralize a team, yet in spite of this Barrington fought gamely and at times swept Arlington off their feet with driving play. Particularly, early in the second half, they had Arlington on the run, and but for a misplay would undoubtedly have scored.

Arlington opened activities with three consecutive first downs, the drive ending when the Cardinals launched an air attack only to see their first pass intercepted.

An exchange of punts left Arlington in possession of the ball on Barrington's 38-yard line. On the first play Szasz went off right tackle. Beautiful blocking, especially by Hertel, and fine running put the ball across for the first score. The try for point was missed after two attempts had been ruled out by the officials.

Immediately after the second half opened the Barrington attack reached its high mark. Three successive first downs carried the ball from Arlington's 49-yard line to her 13. Then 6 yards from the goal line and 3 from a first down, Conn attempting a left end run was downed by Redeker on the 19-yard line. The Broncho's never crossed the mid-field line again.

Arlington took the ball on their own 19-yard stripe. Rohlwing went off left tackle on the first play, and made his longest run of the season, 81 yards, to score a touchdown.

The third Cardinal score came in the fourth quarter. Hertel carried the ball from the 19-yard line to the 9. Rohlwing finished the march with an 8-yard smash over right guard. Helm failed on an attempted plunge for point. A few plays later Weisgerber picked off a pass and ran 65 yards behind fine interference for the final touchdown. Helwig accomplished what none of the backs had been able to do when he successfully plunged for the extra point.

Barrington put a good football team on the field. Their line charged well, blocking was above the average, and two ball carriers, Conn and Dotterrer, came up with some fine running attempts. The loser's nine first downs compare favorably with Arlington's 11. Six of the nine were made through the line or around end. Gains of 5 to 10 yards were not infrequent. Conn did a great job of kicking. In only one feature, tackling, were the visitors poor.

The Cardinals put on an exhibition of hard charging, blocking, running, and tackling. Blocking by Meierhoff, Hertel, and Weisgerber was excellent. Rohlwing and Szasz put on a beautiful show. On defense the line refused to give ground anywhere. Barrington's pass attack was held to a minimum gain by excellent work in Arlington's backfield.

Next week Illinois and Chicago should put on one of the best shows in the Big Ten season . . . on the revived Maroons' home field . . . with Illinois the lightest team in the Big Ten . . . barring an upset at Wisconsin this week, the Maroons may have an opportunity to push the Illini out of a three-way tie for championship.

Northwestern showed surprising power in the first half last weekend . . . held Illinois to short end of 3-0 score . . . and would have scored again in second half but for a penalty . . . Notre Dame tomorrow . . . barring injuries . . . should show up well at Michigan next week.

LIGHTS CAUSE ACCIDENTS

The Chicago Motor club, in a statement, points out that 8,900 automobiles involved in accidents in 1933 had one or both headlights out, or glaring lights. Tests show that lamps need to be replaced or adjusted in nearly 70 per cent of all automobiles operating on our streets and highways.

Cut Vehicle Tax

Elmhurst last week cut the cost of vehicle licenses for all pleasure cars to $2.50 a year. Truck licenses were also scaled down from 33 to 50 per cent.

Launch Centennial

Elmhurst is launching a movement for a centennial celebration in 1937 to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the coming of the vicinity's first white settlers.

By GERALD A. McELROY

The 1934 grid season in the Northwest Conference has passed into history and Arlington has been crowned champion. The Cardinals came through a tough schedule unscathed and broke a three year monopoly of Libertyville.

Coach Grose had an all round good outfit with a strong fast charging line and a fast and shifty backfield featuring Capt. Szasz and Rohlwing. The line lead by Capt. Gieseke's brilliant end play had the best defensive record in the loop. Arlington's defense was dented only by Libertyville and Leyden.

The Cardinals averaged better than 22 points a game while their opponents had a mark of but a fraction over 2.

Libertyville, picked to win the conference, was defeated only by the Cardinals. Coach Martin's team was hampered by injuries all season and the offense of his team was greatly weakened as a result.

Three Great Linemen

However, Arlington's fine team probably would have won the title even if Libertyville had been in good trim and the Cardinals themselves were not without the same handicap. Martin had three great linemen at Libertyville in Capt. Kroll, Isaacson and Madden, and a good quarterback in Harlan.

Leyden, with a fast light team, was outweighed in every game but finished in the expected third position just where they did last season. This years' Leyden eleven was much superior to the 1933 team and the reason for the failure to rise in the standings was due to the better class of the opposition.

Warren as usual prevented Leyden from capturing second place with a surprise 13 to 12 victory. Sewoski, Arquilla and Williams were mighty good backs but Leyden lacked a husky line plunging fullback and a line heavy enough to check such outfits as Libertyville and Arlington.

Warren, starting with but three veterans and a small squad, was the surprise team of the loop. After losing to Palatine and Arlington the Blue Devils knocked off Barrington, Leyden and Bensenville to tie for third place. They lost to Libertyville in their final game. The all round play of Capt. Zimmerman at quarter and the rapid development of green material under Coach Kelton's direction, helped Warren to a splendid record.

Palatine Beset by Injuries

Palatine, beset by injuries much as was Libertyville, started strong by winning from Warren, but never again had the same combination in the game. The loss at Leyden was to be expected as was that at Arlington, but the loss of Hahnfeldt, one of the best fullbacks in the conference, was the reason for the big scores piled up on the Pirates in those two games. The loss at Barrington was the most unexpected, but that day found the Bronchos at their best. At that Megels' eleven came through with two victories, the best in the school's history.

A strong backfield featuring Hahnfeldt, Mangels, Stroker, Schinkosky and Reuse, found itself greatly handicapped by weaknesses in the line. Reuse in his fourth year was one of the best field generals in the conference, while Helms was outstanding at right end in his first year as a regular.

The bright spot in Barrington's otherwise drab season was their 20 to 13 defeat of Palatine in a game which found Conn and the whole Broncho team demonstrating unexpected ability. Aside from a victory at Bensenville, Barrington could do nothing to speak of with Libertyville, Warren, Arlington and Leyden, all of whom ran up top heavy scores. Conn starred in the backfield while Wendt, Muir and Workman played well in the line.

Bensenville failed to score, and the best they could do on defense was hold the opposition to two touchdowns. Nevertheless the Orange team has one consolation. They were the most successful team in the conference in forward passing. Bensenville had the smallest squad and the lightest team in the conference. Capt. Jennings at quarterback was the outstanding player for Johnson's team.

PALATINE VS. ARLINGTON

Palatine's town eleven will play Arlington's town team at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the Red Wing ball park in Arlington Heights. This is the return game of a series in the first of which Arlington defeated Palatine 12-0 at Palatine.

ST. JAMES 18, ST. PETER 6

St. Jams school eleven defeated the St. Peter's school gridder 18-6 Wednesday afternoon in a game played on the St. James field. Robert O'Hagen. Brennan Roache, and William Hall csroed touchdowns for the winners; Clifford White for St. Peter's.

Coach Tells About Boys On Championship Eleven; Four Seniors Are Stars

By JOHN L. GROSE

Arlington Heights, both the town and the high school, can justly feel proud of the record of the Cardinals in the football season just completed. There was little to indicate when the season opened that they were to emerge after one defeat in the first game with Maine, with a list of seven straight victories. And in none of these was there the slightest doubt that Arlington was the better team.

Rolling up a total of 149 points in the eight games played as against 33 by opponents, the Cardinals maintained a record of scoring almost 20 points per game as 4 for opponents. In Conference play the record was even better—135 points as against 14 for opponents. This makes an average of 24 points as against opponents' 2 in each game.

Captain Szasz and Rohlwing were responsible for 94 of these points in Conference play. These two stellar backs of the Cardinals were unstoppable this season. Other Cardinal scorers were Hertel, Weisgerber, Johnson, Michaels, Helwig, and Meierhoff.

Four Players Outstanding

Four boys stood out in the play of the Cardinals this fall—co-captains Gieseke and Szasz and Rohlwing and Helm. Two of these, Szasz and Rohlwing, were backs. The other two, Gieseke and Helm, were linemen.

Szasz and Rohlwing were unquestionably the greatest pair of running backs ever developed at Arlington, and among the best in the history of the Northwest Conference. Szasz probably held a slight edge due to his uncanny ability to keep his feet when hitting. His style differed from Rohlwing's. Szasz ran with a shifting, twisting, driving run coupled with speed, while Rohlwing depended largely upon sheer speed plus a terrific amount of drive for a 150-pound back.

Both were exceptionally good blockers, being particularly adept at running blocks down the field. Both were exceptionally alert at shifting from defensive to offensive play. This past season Szasz developed into a smart quarterback, and there was none better in the Conference at running back punts.

"Clipper" Gieseke, co-captain with Szasz, is the best all-round end ever to wear the Cardinal. Being a vicious tackler, he yet excelled at blocking. He met hardly a tackle all year that he was unable to handle alone, and often times gave as much as 45 pounds weight advantage to his opponent. Yet he completely smothered him. Gieseke was always to be seen leading the "mopping up" crew down the field ahead of the ball carriers. His grin after a murderous tackle or a driving block will be long remembered at Arlington.

Conditioning Aids Helm

Helm had one of the hardest assignments of the entire team. He showed last summer that he was going to be of value this fall by his hard work at conditioning himself. And it was this condition that carried him through the year. On defense he played a roving line position, and played in front of the so-called "spearhead" of the opponents' attack.

At this he absorbed a lot of punishment, and came back for more. It was his ability to pile up plays that had a large part in stopping opponents' offense. Coupled with Helwig, he opened up many a hole for a lot of Szasz's long gains.

Helwig, a veteran at tackle, was slowed up by a sprained ankle in the first game, but soon rounded into form. Strength at tackles was one of Arlington's biggest assets, and one of the main reasons for the low score of opponents this year. Jim was the best of Arlington's tackles.

Hertel and Weisgerber split time at one back position. Both were depended upon to kick, block, and for their defensive ability. Hertel, like Helwig, sustained an ankle injury which didn't respond to treatment until late in the season. Hertel was about the best defensive and blocking back. Late in the season he developed into a very good ball carrier. Weisgerber excelled at kicking and passing. He rose to his best game against Libertyville.

10 Seniors On Squad

Hecklin had the misfortune to be chosen as Captain Gieseke's understudy. He was good enough to be a regular under other circumstances. He more than capably filled Gieseke's position during the time the latter was out with his injured knee.

Schulenberg and Milligan round out the list of 10 seniors on the squad. Both were quite capable, but due to a lack of weight were not quite able to fit into the starting lineup. No one could have asked a better co-operative spirit than each showed all year.

At the beginning of the year it was rather doubtful as to who would be able to cover the other guard, tackle, and end jobs. Scolaro was used considerably last year at guard, and at once asserted himself as capable of holding down that position. Being the lightest man on the starting eleven he split time with Phillippi, an up and coming sophomore. Between the two of them (and there wasn't much to choose between them) they took such good care of the right guard that there was no worry there. Mueller, a junior, understudied Helm, and will be a valuable man next year.

Underclassmen Will Return

Bill Harrah, a sophomore, and Otto Masny, a junior, ably took care of the right tackle job. Redeker, a sophomore, and Helfogt, a junior, held down right end. These four boys played fine ball this year and should be stars next.

Myron Masny has been the regular center for two years and has one more left. He has been a fine passer and a good blocker and defensive. To have a center of his calibre takes a load off a coach's mind to start with.

Pat Meierhoff, a sophomore, was given the wingback assignment, and justified his selection at this position. He did the best job of blocking from a wingback position Arlington has ever had, and when called upon, carried the ball in veteran style. He no doubt will be largely depended upon next year.

Michael, Johnson, Kopplin, Dreschel, and Dearie were reserve backs who did well this year and are available next. Michaels and Johnson particularly were used in every game.

The morale of the squad was fine all year and this, no doubt, was one of the main reasons Arlington was able to finish the season undefeated in Conference play. The pleasure of working with this sort of a squad is one that a coach seldom has.

Libertyville Businessmen Give Banquet for Team

Members of the Libertyville high school football squad will be guests of their local businessmen Tuesday night at the annual banquet given in honor of the grid team. Ralph Jones, coach of Lake Forest college, will be the principal speaker.

For a number of years this banquet has also been in honor of the winning of the conference football championship. However, this year, that feature will be omitted as Libertyville has taken second place.

Niles Center Wins 25-0 From Maine; First Play Scores

Playing the best game of the year, Niles Center High School triumphed, by a wide margin, over the heavy Maine township high school junior varsity in their annual football frav at Maine, Friday afternoon, 25 to 0.

Maine, outweighing the visitors 15 pounds to the man, were unable to stop the power plunges of Morf and Virgil Van Cleave, or the speedy off tackle runs of "Chuck" Wilson. Maine had accounted for one lone first down during the first half, while Coach Isaacson's boys were hammering away for nine first downs, three touchdowns, and a 19 to 0 count.

The Maine defense stiffened in the second half. An increased offense counted five first downs to four for Niles Center, who scored on an intercepted pass by Ernest Van Cleave.

A sleeper play with a pass, Wilson to Nollohan, accounted for the first touchdown on the opening play of the game. Wilson failed at try for goal. Virgil Van Cleave wiggled through broken offense for the second marker. Wilson drop-kicked the extra point. Morf smashed through for the third touchdown a few minutes later.

Leyden cosed the season at Bensenville last Friday when they overpowered Bensenville 26 to 0. The running attack of the Eagles traveled a total of 414 yards from scrimmage and piled up 16 first downs while Bensenville was gaining but 23 yards by rushing. Bensenville's forward passes were their sole offense and they completed seven of them for 80 yards.

Watson's eleven scored in both the first and second quarters to lead 13 to 0 at the half and then came back for 13 more points in the third period. Arquila, diminutive halfback, was the star as the Eagles ran through and around the Bensenville outfit for long gains almost at will.

Bensenville, with few boys out for football and a light inexperienced team, played the whole game without a substitution. Capt. Jennings was the most successful ball carrier for Bensenville. Jenning and Freeman were outstanding in the Bensenville aerial attack.

HARRIERS CLASH TOMORROW

Victorious in all four of their races this season, Wisconsin's cross country runner will meet Illinois tomorrow in the final match of the season. Starting with only two lettermen, Coach Tom Jones, has brought along a team that is consistently looking better, and will give the Illini harriers a stiff run.

ARLINGTON 7, HINSDALE 0

In an even battle with no scoring until the third quarter, Arlington Heights' town team defeated Hinsdale 7-0 last Sunday at Hinsdale. The touchdown was made by "Red" Koelling on a right end run. He also scored the point after touchdown with a place kick.

There Is Patriotism

Don't forget to attend the Eagle's dance, which is the first given by the Park Ridge aerie in the Eagles club rooms Nov. 25, 1934, Saturday.

The evidence that has come out during the United States Senate munitions inquiry may cause some to wonder if there was or is any real patriotism anywhere. Then to Eagles comes the warm recollection of our Order's stand during the war. And from that comes confidence in America, in the common man, whatever the actions and record of her profiteers. Our Order's war record should be told to every new member. These new Eagles should know about the patriotic measures adopted by the Grand Aerie immediately after the United States entered the conflict. The Order paid the dues of every member in uniform that his dependents might be assured of free medical care and other forms of protection that the Order gives an Eagle's family. Ours was the first organization to take such action. Then the men of the Order not in uniform contributed to a Patriotic Fund, for which to pay $1,000 to the dependants of every Eagle who died as a result of his war services. Again ours was the first Order to take this step. We have disbursed nearly $1,500,000 from the Patriotic Fund. And, though the war was ended sixteen years ago this month, we are still paying those $1,000 gratuities whenever an Eagle, in good standing in 1917-18, dies from war service causes.

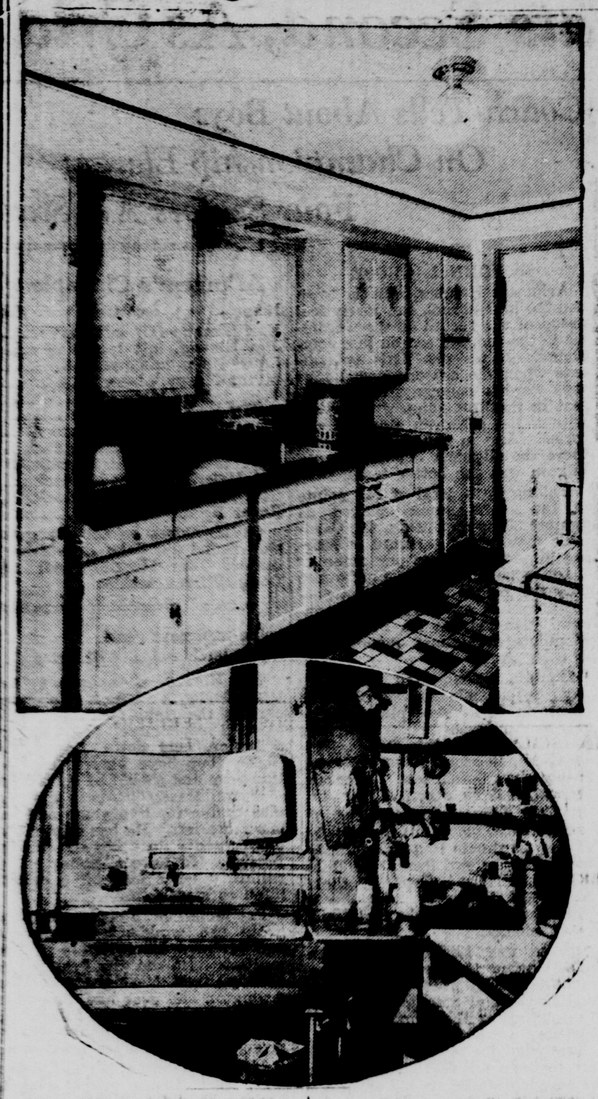

When you are reading about profits in the millions of dollars that the unscrupulous garnered during that trying time, remember what the Eagles did and are doing. The Eagles do not forget—in war or in peace, in prosperity or depression. Now is the time to remember that, and to tell the inspiring story to our young men.

Improvement of Kitchen Among FHA Possibilities

Drab, dingy kitchens make a veritable ordeal of the task of preparing meals. Particularly is this true when the kitchen has a poor arrangement of equipment and is lacking in up-to-date facilities for the housewife. Kitchens of this type usually are those that were built years ago, before the modern kitchen improvements were available. Any old kitchen, no matter how great its shortcomings, can be transformed into a place of beauty and charm, and made comfortable and convenient. Why not include such a project as your part of Palatine's Better Housing program, now under way.

If there is not enough natural light, windows can be enlarged or additional ones installed. Darkness can be further dispelled by placing a drop light over the stove or in other places where there is not sufficient light.

Cupboards, cabinets, shelves and bins can be built to provide for convenient storage of food, cooking utensils and dishes. If there is unutilized space beneath the drain board or the sink it can be used for a vegetable bin, and perhaps save many steps to the back porch or the basement. Serving dishes stored in the old-fashioned cupboard in the dining room can just as well be placed in twin cupboards at each side above the sink.

Above are actual photographs of a kitchen before and after modernizing. The new kitchen has all the latest conveniences: Built-in cabinets, built-in sink with large shelves and drain at a most convenient height, colorful linoleum floor, tile walls, built-in light above the sink, an automatic cooking range, mechanical refrigerator, Built-in broom closet and ironing board—and other conveniences.

How nice it is to have a place for everything, with no unsightly open racks or shelves as in the photograph of the old kitchen above.

What a pleasure it is to prepare a meal in a room like this!

You can buy a new kitchen now without down payment and on easy monthly terms through credit facilities opened up by the National Housing act. Ask your local bank or other financial institution cooperating with the Federal Housing administration about their loans for modernizing.

West's Latest Picture Is Set "In Gay 90's"

"Belle of the Nineties" coming to the Des Plaines Theatre next Wednesday, Thursday, for two days only, the third of the Mae West starring pictures to come from Paramount, shows the blonde siren again in a setting of the gay '90's, which was the period of her first picture, "She Done Him Wrong."

Surrounded by three screen sweethearts, Roger Pryor, John Mack Brown and John Miljan, together with Duke Ellington and his orchestra, Katherine DeMille, Warren Hymer and Stuart Holmes, Mae West essays the role of the country's most sensational burlesque queen of the period.

As "American Beauty," Mae West becomes involved with an ambitious young prize fighter, Roger Pryor, of St. Louis, but, through the plotting of the prize fighter's manager, the romance is broken up, and Mae West accepts an opportunity to leave St. Louis to become queen of a popular gambling palace in New Orleans.

The men of New Orleans welcome her to the city, and John Miljan's gambling house becomes the most popular rendezvous in town. Miljan decides to back a young prize fighter, Pryor, Mae West's "St. Louis man," and, in order to get money for this enterprise, induces Pryor to rob Mae West of her diamonds.

SCHOOLS

WILSON SCHOOL, DIST. 24

We have been practicing for our coming evening Achievement meeting which is to be held at the school house on Friday evening, November 23, at 8 o'clock. Everyone is invited.

The enrollment in our school this year has increased to 45. The board members have purchased additional seats.

Our school grounds have been greatly improved by the new sidewalks.

We are going to have new curtains for our cloak rooms. With the money won at the choral contest and that donated by the Ladies' Community club, curtain material was purchased. Mrs. Martin Albrecht sewed the curtains for us. Two curtain poles with rings to match were also purchased.

Dorothy and Lewis Maierhofer were ill for some time after school began, but we are glad that they have returned. Wallace Moss is at the Evanston hospital and is to remain there for a few more weeks. We will miss him at our Achievement program.

At the first Achievement meeting of our club this year, the following officers were elected:

President, Isabel Wagner.
Vice president, Alex Spasovich.
Secretary, Dorothy Guenther.
Treasurer, Melvin Preston.

BOX ELDER SCHOOL, DIST. 60

Friday evening at 8, we will have an achievement program at our school. Our program will consist of a model achievement meeting, songs, recitations and short plays. We are all working hard to give our parents and friends an enjoyable evening.

The Achievement club is having a blanket drawing. The money will be used to buy needed library books. Last year we also had a drawing and bought a reading chart for the first grade.

We have lost six of our schoolmates since school began. Howard and Robert Cosman moved to Seattle, Washington. Edwin and Lawrence Semmerling moved to Morton Grove. Clifford and Vernette Sell moved to a new home on Wolf road. We were all sorry to see our friends leave; but we wish them good luck and happiness in their new homes.

Mr. Breitenfeldt had a letter from Howard Cosman, and read it to us in school. Howard wrote that they had little trouble with their car, and that they traveled 2,485 miles on their trip. He also wrote that it is very pretty traveling in the mountains; and that he saw many cowboys, cattle, horses and sheep.

CLEAN STOVES, FURNACES SAVE HEATING COSTS

Competent Overhauling of Flues, Chimney, Equipment Advisable

The little, dirty, old-fashioned chimney sweep may have passed into history, but the need for cleaning the home heating equipment each fall is just as great as ever, in the opinion of E. W. Lehmann, head of the agricultural engineering department at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Every year many home owners condemn their furnaces and stoves because they require so much more coal to keep the house warm, when the real trouble is that the equipment has not been cleaned thoroughly in the past year. The heating surfaces of the furnace may be covered with ashes and the flues clogged with soot. In such case there is bound to be a waste of fuel and increased coal bills.

No one should ever start the winter without a thorough examination of the furnace or stove to make certain that the equipment is in first-class condition, points out Lehmann. If the heating plant is an old one, some of the principal parts may need replacing. The firepot and the radiating surface of the warm-air furnace may be cracked, or the grates may have become warped and twisted so that unburned coal drops through to the ash box.

Besides the loss of fuel in an attempt to heat a house with a dirty furnace, there is always danger of fire caused by burning soot in the smoke pipes and flues. This same risk is also present in the case of heating stoves and ranges, when the equipment has not been cleaned out before fall fires are started.

ABOUT POULTRY

By A. A. Paltz

Poultry Prospects Are Improving Rapidly

Last Spring due to the low price of eggs and poultry meat, the number of baby chicks raised dropped off considerably. Probably 20% to 25% fewer chicks were started on Middlewestern Farms than during the preceeding year.

Summer brought one of the most disasterous droughts in history. Feed prices shot up and as a result poultry was marketed in great numbers. Many farms reduced their flocks to just a few birds.

Now the market reporters tell us that feed prices are about as high as they will go unless some form of inflation takes place. Furthermore, with a good crop next year, it may be expected that the spread between feed prices and egg prices will be very favorable to eggs.

In fact, the present market price of eggs enables poultry raisers to make good profit by feeding carefully.

And due to the shortage of poultry in the United States, it would seem advisable to hang on to the good layers and plan to start an adequate number of chicks in the Spring.

Red Meat Prices to Go Higher

The Department of Agriculture has warned us that the prices of Red Meats—beef, pork and mutton will go higher next year because of the shortage of meat animals caused by the drought.

High prices for red meats always affect egg and poultry prices favorably. So it seems that even the most conservative poultryman can expect good profits during the next 18 months ahead.

Free Poultry Bulletins

The Illinois Experiment Station publishes some very helpful Bulletins which should be in the hands of every poultry raiser. The bulletins listed below may be obtained by addressing: University of Illinois, College of Agriculture, Urbana, Ill.

Bulletin 337—"Housing Farm Poultry."

Bulletin 285—"Feeding for Egg Production."

Bulletin 333—"Poultry Farm Equipment."

Note: Mr. Paltz is a Poultryman of long experience and will be glad to answer your questions about poultry. Address all correspondence direct to Mr. A. A. Paltz, Sunny Croft Hatchery, Palatine, Illinois.

Public Service Company Urges Importance of Red Cross Work

"The advent of the annual Red Cross Roll Call from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, brings to mind an important part of Red Cross work which is perhaps less well known than its service in disasters," says Dr. Hart E. Fisher, chief surgeon of the medical bureau of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

"That work," said Dr. Fisher, "is the fostering of first aid training. When emergency strikes, it is important that someone know what to do until the doctor comes. Inspired by the Red Cross, more than a million men and women thruout the country are familiar with first aid, particularly the Schaefer method of artifical respiration. The result is that a large number of people are alive today who would otherwise have lost their lives through accidents.

"In the Public Service company, our employees are trained in first aid using the Red Cross' excellent book on that subject. Time and again this training has been responsible for the saving of human life. Employees have used their first knowledge, especially the Schaefer method. to save nearly 50 lives among the public in the last few years.

"Teams selected from among employees trained in first aid have competed regularly in the Red Cross Annual first aid contest for industries and other organizations sponsoring first aid. Public Service teams competing in the Red Cross contests have later given any number of demonstrations before schools, boy scout groups, clubs, police and fire departments, and civic organizations.

With the work of the Red Cross spreading its acts of mercy in many directions, the importance of contributing to the annual roll call cannot be overemphasized in the opinion of Dr. Fisher.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS HERALD

VOLUME 8, NUMBER 52 | ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER AT ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ILLINOIS | ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ILL., FRIDAY, NOV. 16, 1934 | H. C. PADDOCK & SONS, Publishers Arlington Heights, Illinois | PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

WILL START MODERNIZAT'N CAMPAIGN HERE

Business Men To Form Committee ; To Canvas Arlington Hts.

Arlington Heights is to have a city-wide modernization and improvement campaign as part of the National Better Housing Program sponsored by the Federal Housing Administration.

An informal meeting of local contractors and building supply men was held in the village hall Tuesday afternoon, at which an organization committee was asked to secure an executive chairman and to call a meeting of all business men within the next few days.

Every person present Tuesday voted in favor of an Arlington Heights modernization campaign. A speaker from Chicago was present and explained that the first requisite of securing a share of the government money that will soon be available for the erecting of new homes in Arlington Heights, was the formation of a local organization. Without such a committee, Arlington Heights would be out of the picture.

The speaker told of the campaign that is in progress in Elgin and other towns; of the reception that has been given to the block workers by the property owners who desire to improve their property.

"The purpose of the campaign is to enable Arlington Heights to get as large and immediate benefits as possible from the National Housing Act.

"The Federal Government has provided a plan under which local lending institutions can make money available to property owners for repairs and improvements at the lowest charges ever offered for this type of loan.

"The purpose will be to inform every property owner in the city how he can take advantage of this new financing plan and of the desirability of making necessary improvements to his property at this time.

"This campaign will have an immediate and most important effect on every type of business in the community. It will, of course, benefit the building industry first, and there is no industry which has been harder hit than building and there are few which are so important to this community. But it will also have a direct effect on all other lines of activity.

"Approximately 75 cents of every dollar spent for repairs and improvements go to local labor. Most of the money they receive in wages is immediately put back into the channels of retail trade. Bills are paid. Purchases are made of food, clothing, and such necessities, then of other goods and luxuries."

DIRTY POLITICS

Mud throwing during a political campaign smacks of old time politics and should not be a part of this modern age. To the credit of both parties, the majority of the candidates in the recent campaign did not resort to such tactics.

Thus there is all the more reason to brand as plain bunk, the efforts that were put forth by certain interests to question the integrity of Noble J. Puffer, who was elected by three hundred, fifteen thousand majority as Cook County Superintendent of Schools.

Whatever were the reasons, revenge, or jealousy, that were behind the efforts of the interests who threw the mud, nothing was gained and there was no possibility of stopping the election of Mr. Puffer.

If it was done out of personal spite and a desire to embarrass Mr. Puffer, it was still fruitless. The legion of loyal friends that Mr. Puffer enjoys and the mass of congratulations from leading educators which he has received since the election has served to prove in the minds of thinking people, both Republicans and Democrats, Mr. Puffer's fitness for the office, his honesty, his integrity and the standards upon which he will conduct the affairs of the schools of Cook county, when he assumes his new position in August, 1935.

For the welfare of our two great parties, such unwarranted tactics should not go unpunished. There is no reason why an innocent citizen of this United States should have his character attacked just because he becomes a candidate for office.

SCOUTS BEGIN DRIVE FOR CASH, NEW MEMBERS

Two Months Remain To Reach This Year's Objectives

With less than two months remaining during which the year's objectives may be attained the Scout and Cub units of Arlington Heights and the Arlington district Boy Scout committee have been asked to participate in a huge council-wide program throughout the Northwest Suburban area to go over the top on its membership and finance objectives before December 31. District goals have been established on both items and a few key-men selected to give leadership and supervision to the plan.

Members of this group are: F. O. Proctor, Frank Ballard, Herman McElhose, W. A. Miles, Arlington Heights; Valentine Weber, Wyman Lahtinen, Mt. Prospect; John Barrett, Wheeling; Ben McBride, Grey Sanborn, M. Humphreys, Geo. Minniberger, Palatine.

The 1984 membership goal in the Northwest Suburban Council is 1,000 boys or 750 Scouts and 250 Cubs. Early this week the figure has reached a total of 669 Scouts and 217 Cubs. With a present membership of 108 Scouts and suggested objective has been set at 130.

Under the finance part of the program every troop and cub pack will be urged to lend its efforts to the completion of the district quota. Des Plaines has already completed its quota for 1934 and is continuing its efforts to get funds to carry through the early part of next year. It is expected through this end of the year effort that the other districts will follow suit and complete their share of the cost of maintaining the Scout program in the area.

All six districts of the council will participate. They are, Barrington district—including Barrington and Lake Zurich, Arlington District—including Palatine, Mt. Prospect, Wheeling and Arlington Heights, Des Plaines district—including Des Plaines and Schiller Park, the Park Ridge district and Niles Township district including Niles, Niles Center and Morton Grove.

Next Thursday will bring to a close the series of five weekly meetings of the University of Scouting being conducted by the Northwest Suburban Council at the Maine township high school. This series of training courses which started the latter part of October has attracted nearly 100 men from the various parts of the Northwest Suburban area.

Although next week will mark the final session of the general program, because of the nature of the two specialization groups they will continue for several additional meetings. These are the American Red Cross first aid course which involves 20 hours of training and the archery handicraft course requiring additional time to complete the work.

The last registration card must accompany all re-registration applications for 1935. The certificate of title number must be presented.

When re-registering vehicles on which the applicant holds a certificate of title in his own name there is no requirement for a new certificate of title and no 50 cent charge.

Two applications are necessary on all first applications. One application for registration and one for a certificate of title. This applies to both regular registration applications and transfer applications.

ANNUAL ROLL OF RED CROSS IS UNDER WAY

Drives Becomes Community Project in Arlington Heights

The annual American Red Cross roll call began in Arlington Heights yesterday as a community proposition under a new system which will make the Red Cross active locally throughout the year and not only during the roll call period from Armistice day to Thanksgiving.

A committee of 16 local people representing nine local churches and organizations is in charge of the work. The village has been divided into eight districts with two committee members as captains in each district.

These captains are enlisting volunteer workers to make a house to house canvass, each worker covering a small territory, about one block, and then handing on the roll call materials to the worker in the next small territory. While each worker will have only a few calls to make, the entire village will be thoroughly canvassed in a way to make this a co-operative community project.

Following the roll call the committee will form a permanent organization to function throughout the year. Work already scheduled to be done as soon as the reorganization is completed included preparation of preserves for the veterans' hospital and of clothing for children.

Mrs. Rexford Volz, 846 North Belmont avenue, Arlington Heights is acting as chairman of the committee during the roll call period and until the permanent organization is completed and permanent officers chosen.

Members of the committee are: Mrs. Volz and Mrs. A. H. Bowlin from the Women's club, Charles K. Klock from the American Legion, Mrs. V. Pecchia and Mrs. P. L. May from the Legion auxiliary, Miss Norma Meyer and Miss Dorothy Helm from the Junior league, Mrs. E. H. Heller and Mrs. E. H. Malzahn from the Lions club.

Mrs Howard Helm from the Methodist Episcopal church, Mrs. A. L. McElhose and Mrs. A. L. Folkman from the St. Peter's Lutheran church, B. O'Connell and L. F. Biederman from St. James Catholic church, and Mrs. B. Helfers and Mrs. H. Schad from St. John's Evangelical church.

Rollicking Farce At M. E. Church Nov. 22 and 23

Remember those "tear" cups which your great grandfather—or somebody else's Aunt Ulita—used to take along to the "meller drama" and tableaux of the early '70's to catch the salty tears when Little Eva told Uncle Tom goodbye? Well, if you've got a set of them up in the attic truck among the antiques, dig them out and take them along when you go to see the play, "Sound Your Horn" being presented at the Methodist Auditorium Thursday and Friday nights, November 22 and 23.

That, at least, is the suggestion noised about by one or two of the "kibbetzing" previewers of the rollicking farce who quite plainly insinuate that the lachrymal activity forecast will result from entirely different causes than encouraged grandpa and Aunt Ulita to weep.

In other words, "Sound Your Horn" promises to be a good evening's entertainment. The play itself is filled with plenty of wisecracks and comic situations, and the cast of well-known local amateurs is said to be putting considerable additional fun into it.

Seats for "Sound Your Horn" are being reserved now at Siegurg's drug store. Adult tickets are 35 cents and children's tickets may be had at the door the nights of the play for 20 cents. No reservations will be made by phone, it has been announced. Tickets may be purchased from members of either the Fidelis Circle or Fellowship class of the Methodist church, sponsors of the play.

The curtain will rise promptly at 8:15 o'clock, each night.

The cast of the play is as follows:

Christine Elliott—Mrs. Charles Emmett.
Theodore Webster — Robert Blackburn.
Mrs. Emmerson Van Dyke—Mrs. Eugene Heller.
Mr. Angus—Fred Utterback.
Etta Lamb—Mrs. James McElhose.
Jay Bird—Jack Everett.
Diane Webster—Mrs. Marvin Prellberg.
Mr. Beasley—Harvey Kapphahn.
Drusila—Florence Patrick.
Phyllis—Marjorie Sayres.

CHOIR ENTERTAINS CAST

VILLAGE BOARD PASSES ORDINANCE ON BOND SALE FOR PWA WATER WORKS

250,000 Gallon Reservoir Assured for Village to End Summer Water Shortage; Softening Plant Suggested; Liquor Ordinance Interpretations Occupy Trustees.

(Mt. Prospect Review)

Mt. Prospect village board spent a long evening November 7 in the discussions of the business of the Village, and the various problems which came before them for settlement. A considerable portion of the time was devoted to expressions of opinions of different members of the Board on the question of the status of clubs which sell liquor, under the present liquor ordinance. The problem of dancing in taverns, and beer parlors also came before the Board. The latter part of the session was devoted to the discussion and enactment of the ordinance which makes official the selling of Water Department bonds to the Federal government, to cover the expansion of water supply facilities.

O. K. Reservoir Ordinance

The ordinance on the construction of the water storage reservoir was the same as has been discussed previously, and its passage was a routine matter. The project, in its early stages, was the subject of a public hearing, which was for the purpose of determining the type of improvement desired by the citizens of the Village. At that time consideration was given to both overhead tank and ground-level reservoirs, and it was decided to construct a concrete basin which will hold about 250,000 gallons of water. The objections which were raised at the time of the hearing to the elevated tank were considered sufficient to indicate the ground level more desirable. This project will also include the installation of additional high-capacity pumping equipment for pumping the water from the reservoir into the lines. At present the storage is limited to the capacity of the elevated tank, which is 25,000 gallons, which is only enough for a few hours maximum use. The rate of pumping from the wells is limited by the output of these wells, and the limited capacity of the tank makes it impossible to run the pumps all night, since they must be stopped when the tank is full. With the additional storage capacity, the wells can be pumped as long as the reservoir is not full, and the high-capacity centrifugal type pumps can be run at a rate higher than the maximum usage, so that the elevated tank can always be kept full, and proper pressure maintained. This improvement is recommended by the engineers as a fire control measure of great importance, since the amount of water available with the present tank is not enough to provide adequate protection, even if it were possible to keep it full at all times.

Softening Plant Requested

At the time of the public hearing there was a suggestion that the improvement should include a cost to the village of between $6,000.00 and $10,000.00. Those who recommended this plant as a part of the project felt that the economies which would result, to the people, in savings in soap, softening materials and in longer life of clothes would make it a paying proposition. The total cost to the Village of this softening plant, which would make the water almost as soft as rain water, was represented as being about the cost of 50 softeners of the type used in homes, and the cost of operation would be less. The question of the water softening plant came before the Board again last Wednesday, with a communication received from a citizen who suggested that the matter be given consideration and offered to circulate a petition to bring it before the Board for action. The trustees indicated in the discussion that they could take no action on the softener question in the obsence of indication of a public demand, but stated that a petition, if one were presented, would be given consideration.

Liquor Ordinance Discussed

The classification of "dance halls," in connection with the liquor ordinance came up through a request of one of the local tavern men, who had been informed that dancing was not permitted in taverns unless a special dance hall permit be obtained at a cost of $100.00 in addition to the license fee required under the liquor ordinance for the dispensing of alcoholic drinks. Village President Herman F. Meyn, who, under the state law, is Liquor Commissioner, interpreted the law as prohibiting the operation of a dance hall in connection with a tavern. Attorney Thal gave his opinion on the matter to the effect that patrons of the tavern have the privilege of dancing in such space and to such music as the tavern provides, but that, under the ordinance, a tavern cannot provide an orchestra nor charge for dancing. He explained that these provisions were to prevent taverns from becoming a public nuisance, rather than to limit the privileges of customers.

The discussion of the interpretation of the ordinance where it refers to clubs was brought before the Board, by Trustee D. W. Budlong who represented the Veterans of Foreign Wars. According to one interpretation of the law, a club has the same privilege as a private home in that no control of the use of liquor is legal. The payment of a license fee covering public affairs conducted by the Club at which beer is sold, was considered justified, on a daily permit basis, and if the club paid an annual fee, the daily permit was considered unjustified. Mr. Meyn, who is responsible for the interpretation and enforcement of the ordinance, had ruled that the license required of clubs which wish to sell beer to their members is to be paid on the basis of the number of members, and that this license fee does not give any right to the club to sell liquor to other than members. His ruling was that a daily permit is necessary if the club is to sell to the public. The situation with reference to the V. F. W. clubhouse was taken as an example in the discussion which was on the general question of the rights of any club under the present laws. Attorney Thal was asked to give his interpretation, and his opinion agreed with Mr. Meyn. He explained that a club does have the same rights as the individual members in their own homes, as long as the club does not sell liquor to its members, but merely brings to the clubhouse and consumes liquor on the premises. However, according to Mr. Thal, when the selling of liquor to its members is a part of the club business, a license fee is required.

Land Bank Loans In Cook County Total $298,900

Farmers of Cook county have received $298,900 in land bank and commissioners' loans from May 12, 1933, the date of the passage of the Emergency Farm Mortgage act, to October 1, 1934, according to Walter L. Rust, president of the Federal Land bank.

This sum of money, the majority of which was used to refinance farmers' existing debts, represents two types of loans—land bank and commissioner's loans. The land bank loans are made on the security of first mortgages to an amount not to exceed 50 per cent of the normal value of the land and 20 per cent of the value of the buildings.

Commissioner's loans are made on first or second mortgages. The sum of the first and second mortgage may not exceed 75 per cent of the normal value of the farm based on its agricultural earning power. The loans have been made on the basis of the present production of the land and the prices farmers receive for their products during normal periods.

Hunters Must Keep Out Of Forest Preserves

Hunting in the forest preserves is taboo.

Emmett Whealan, president of the board of forest preserve commissioners has issued a warning with teeth in it.

Anyone caught hunting pheasants, quail or rabbits, or any other kind of game in hunting season or out of it, in the forest preserves, will be arrested and prosecuted and their rifles will be taken from them. A special patrol of 50 policemen during the present hunting season will be on duty to see to it that the "no hunting" warning means no hunting, President Whealan said.

What is the news? I do declare
Distracting news flash everywhere
Some bring good news, and some bring bad—
And most give thanks for all they've had.
Weddings and funerals equalize—
In joy, or sorrow, and surprise
Armistice Day right nobly spread
Deserved memorials for the dead
Monday, loud headlines told of quakes—
And how our state, in terror shakes
News flashes, not quite understood
Bring warnings thus: "Will you be good?"

Now will these wrangling statemen (so called), behave, and quit stirring up war, in our own land.

Better be good neighbors and patronize the country store.

Mrs. S. Fehlman, with her son Mr. and Mrs. Martin Fehlman and daughter, Dorothea, went to Chicago Sunday to visit the Chrysanthemum show. A magnificent indesertable display of gorgeous flowers of innumerable variety. The only hindrance to thorough enjoyment of the beautiful flowers was that crowds would hinder your passage from place to place all desirous of getting a sight such as is seldom to be seen.

We are grateful to the gunmen who did not disturb our meadow home during the hunting season. Yet we do agree that so many broke our village laws and shot inside the limits, even on home premises. This is too bad.

Inquiring about turkeys for Thanksgiving. We learn that the branch of the Chidley family in charge of the Turkey ranch near Palatine have in their round up between six and seven hundred turkeys. And not in one a single cheat.

Just "Rummage" through and find "As Is."

Woman's Club Notes

The club met Wednesday, Nov. 7 for a literature and drama tea.

Mrs. B. T. Best, chairman of the committee introduced the speaker, and honor guest of the day, Mrs. George A. Harriman.

Opening the program by reading a number of the prize poems of the state contest in 1933.

Her charming manner of presenting these poems would have enabled even a common place poem to win a prize. Mrs. Harriman reviewed—giving excerpts from the book "Desk at the Grove," taking her audience in rapt attention. Suffice it to say Mrs. Harriman's program was an informing and delightful treat to all who were present. The local club chorus gave pleasing numbers and three of Mrs. Mitzlaff's pupils gave vocal solos.

Mrs. Wm. Franke acted as secretary pro-tem.

Treasurer reported balance in treasury of $285.41.

A vote of appreciation was unanimously given to all those who helped to make the Rummage sale such a gigantic success.

Mrs. Koeppel urged members of the music committee to persuade others to join with the incentive of the personal advantages in training they will receive.

The financial reports were encouraging beyond expectation. The President, Mrs. Jarvis, called attention to the fact that there will be no more meetings in the church until after the holidays. Also urged the members to be prompt in having their jellies and jams at Framberg's store no later than Tuesday, the 20th. These articles are to be taken to the city as part of the 7th district contribution to our soldiers in hospitals.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 11.

The Golden Text was, "He that cometh from above is above all: he that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth" (John 3:31).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit" (Romans 8:1).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through discernment of the spiritual opposite of materiality, even the way through Christ, Truth, man will reopen with the key of divine Science the gates of Paradise which human beliefs have closed, and will find himself unfallen, upright, pure, and free" (p. 171).

Many things happened since our last meeting, namely our Armistice Eve Ball which was a huge success and every one there had a swell time and if you think we are kidding ask Warren Parker. Warren said he had one swell time and said it is too bad that we could have but one Armistice Eve ball per year.

At 11 a. m. on Armistice Day we assisted with the V. F. W. at the ceremony at the village green. In the afternoon our drum corps and color guard assisted at the dedication exercises at Palatine, sponsored by Palatine post.

Did you miss the dinner given the Post by the Auxiliary. If you did you certainly missed something. We must hand it to the girls as they sure put on a good spread.

The pies were extraordinary good and we make a suggestion right now which we hope Charles Page and his committee will take heed of—to get the cook to make us some of those pies for one of our meetings.

Vic Pecchia entertained us with a juggling act and he is the only juggler who can knock three cups together in mid-air, have two fall to the ground and not even crack them.

Les Griffith, Mrs. Palmer, Helen Klock, Jack May and Rubinoff rendered the musical numbers and Mrs. Pecchia was the soloist for the evening.

The cute remark of the evening goes to Mike Browne who chirped up—a little trouble with Chili ladies and gentlemen, but merely temporarily—this came about in a mix up on the song "Solo Meow" or something like that, anyway next time the ladies acts as hosts, take a tip be out.

Joe Bernhard, 9th district commander and Mrs. Bernhard were the distinguished guests of the evening.

COMING PICTURES AT THE ARLINGTON

Carl Laemmle's ever living "All Quiet on the Western Front" will have a one day showing on Saturday. In these days of talk about new wars and entanglements one has only to see this picture and realize how necessary it is that every thinking person must and shall oppose war and its pestilential aftermath.

"All Quiet on The Western Front" is now being run in the major theatres of Chicago and creating both a furor and long lines at the box office. The announcements of "Of Human Bondage," for an early date is also pleasant picture news. This is a remarkable and clever screen vehicle and follows closely the book and play. "The Man from Monterey," making up a part of the Sunday double feature is accounted the finest Western atmosphere drama in a decade. Requests for Shirley Temple in "Stand up and Cheer" will bring it to the Arlington soon.

Manager Godshaw attributes the fine attendance to the exceptional projection and new wide range Western Electric sound plus better pictures.

Capacity in Ampere Hours Counts in Storage Battery

Our good friend Mr. Winkelman the Willard Battery Dealer down at 113 E. Davis street, Arlington Heights, asks us to pass on a timely word of advice.

"Many car owners," says Mr. Winkelman, "are under the impression that the size of a battery case and the number of plates are true guides to the quality and power of a battery. This is not true, because plates can be made thin or narrow, and blocked up in a big case to look like a powerful battery. The only infallible measure of the life and performance of a storage battery is its CAPACITY in AMPERE HOURS, and to protect battery buyers the Society of Automotive Engineers has established standards of capacity. Every Willard Battery has its capacity MOLDED in the case—you know exactly what you are getting."

Observers Notes

True friendship is a priceless thing,
In life man's greatest boast;
One oftenest your door bell will ring,
Is the friend who needs you most.
Life's phases and its friendships change,
And as good or ill succeed,
So fortunes phases oft make strange
Friends who for you have no more need.
Yet friendship proves life's rarest gem
In friends who come when you need them.

The old saying, "A friend in need, is a friend indeed" depends on the way you place the need. We all need friends, and most of us are glad to help those in need of us. There is no greater joy than to be situated so you can bestow the needed help whether material or otherwise.

On the other side, there comes to most of us in life a need, a hungry longing for the friends who understand how much we need their help. Who are ready to cheer and help us, very popular just now is that one who can deal out relief to humanity in need, are they friends?

Observe how grand it is to become a hero in spending other people's money. One may toil and save and work months and years to establish some good and enduring help for a town or a people, when in the end some other will come in spend the accumulated money and presto, the work stands accredited to one who never toiled labored and prayed for it. So easy to attain fame on other's money or efforts.

This "Country Store" coming this week brings to mind one of the first business places we noticed on our first entrance to Arlington Heights, was the store on what is now known as "Davis corner." High on the north wall we read in big letters the name A. G. Downs, dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, etc. Now we well knew the "Downs," the eight brothers and most of all their one sister, our music teacher and choir leader in the old church at Gardner where her husband was pastor.

Right here on this prairie soil stood the old country store, A. G. Downs proprietor. Mr. F. E. Davis had been in charge of the store as clerk at fourteen years of age, and a bearer of its burdens, name and fame long as he lived. In many ways the store and stock bore the character of the "Country Store," until autos, telephones and radios came into the picture.

You will find a reproduction of an old "Country Store" on the Vail Davis corner Friday, the 16th, so we will leave the subject here, only to say that when we came to this place in 1899 there was no delivery from any shop or store, no fresh fruit to be found. For fresh vegetables you had to raise them in your garden or go without.

At this date it would be a feature to induce repression if some one would start a contest to see who could refrain for the longest time from speaking of the late unprecedented election. All ready now, we begin.

The weather just now is a much safer topic, surely no one will be so contrary as to deny a unanimous vote in its favor, even give the victorious party credit for all this glorious autumn weather if it will help them to deserve success.

We are not pleased with this weather,
Nor with views other people express;
We are sure when folks meet together,
They think too much of their dress.

We are not pleased with election,
Of our schools we cannot approve;
People make such a poor selection,
Of officials, and all that they move.

The weather? Too warm is this weather,
It is always too hot or too cold;
Thus we talk when we get together.
Find fault criticise, and scold.

Makes no odds, if poor as Job's turkey,
Or with Alladin's golden touch;
All things, to us will seem murkey
Because we think of ourselves too much.

Odd it is the way we judge people by their trade vocation or profession, and as often as we do this we are likely to make big mistakes. We heard a plain salesman today give an offhand analysis of the character of a group of our presidents far more correct than any we have read in the press or late histories and more correct than college lecturers have given. This man reads and thinks.

Observe each day it is the common little happenings of life that require courage to bear. Here, after a long week shut-in when went out for an hour, came home to find Margaret Telfer and her cousin Miss Elizabeth McKaye from Kenosha had called. They had been to the cemetery with flowers. Twenty-five years ago today (Nov. 10) Margaret wrote. "We laid father's body out there." So sorry to miss these dear friends. One of the common little things that try our souls or our patience.

"Rejoice in simplicity and Godly sincerity" especially do we have reason to rejoice if we find happily left, some who possess these golden characteristics in this world today, where so few dare to be their true selves, where so much of sham aid and so-called neutrality rule.

Wonder why it is we are such great big shams. Are we sincerely honest to ourselves when alone with ourselves, yet trying when with others to make something is all wool or pure gold, or diamonds to catch the popular approval when we know it is all a great big sham?

Here comes this little song sparrow that has for our many years in the meadow sang the same cheery song and sent out the same wake up banter, "You can't see me" no make believe in that little songester, not trying to sing another birds song, just his own true blue cheerio. We can't all be mockbirds or canaries, neither can we all be Mussolinis, Chicago mayors or national dictators. Stick to your own true convictions, be your true sincere self.

Down at Wilmington on the Kankakee, a near centenarian passed to the life beyond. Miss Charlotte Fisher, who, had she lived until April, would have been one hundred years old. Her true, kindly self, through the changing tricissitudes of life, a true gentle woman. When the Danials bank failed far in the past, it held a fund to provide for her a life time; by this failure Miss Fisher was left to provide for herself. This she did by teaching a select school. No murmurs, no complaints, as true to her work as her father was to his when the old Wisher mills, with its superior stones sent out the best flour and corn meal in all our state.

So Miss Fisher, true to her Christian profession, true to her belief in God and humanity, spent a busy, useful life. Many are the children who loved her and cherish her memory, always kind, always true, who ever feared her being led into sham beliefs or into false doctrines? She passed into the larger life, a true reliable friend to humanity and a true gentle woman.

"Unto thyself be true, and it must follow as night, the day thou can'st not unto any man be false." Had this advise been kept in this late election (one may say in all elections), there had been a different aftermath, yes an aftermath of changing sincere convictions or right into a hope for position or money. Let that pass, the sequel must come later on.

Here it is Monday, November 12 and at six this morning ten degrees above zero, yet the ice wagon is on its route. Fessler's milk and cream keep so well we don't need ice, but those who do can get it all right.

No, I wasn't born on a farm, yet the happiest days of my life were spent on a farm. The farmer who knows his soil and his business is the most independent man on earth never out of a job. Has his children educated in the best schools, poor crops always yield enough for his living. His home has all the modern equipments, light, telephone, radio and best current magazines and news.

Ashamed of being farmers?
Whoever dared say that?
The farmers have to feed him
And pay for his high hat;
They only pity that poor lob,
Who is always hunting for a job.

A little girl at school the other day was asked if her father was a Christian, and she said, "No sir, he is a democrat." Then a little boy was asked if his father was a republican and he proudly answered, "No he is a Methodist." Now these are true stories. But our farmers are now starting for Washington to set things right.

From the Prairie Farmer station we learn this morning that several hundred farmers from the western states are leaving Chicago on a special train for Washington. Now won't our statesmen, dictators and highups have to behave?

This is a glorious "near" winter morning. The sunshine so bright, the air so pure, and the sky so blue. How can people agitate war and harm to each other? Cheer up friends, and neighbors, "God is in His heaven" and all will yet be well. If we but do our part in carrying out our part in His service.

Where the blue sky over his head
In twilight shades to amethyst;
Or where the roseate walls of mist
Meeting the morn, flush deeper red.

He looks across the teeming land,
Where nature stirs to light again;
Waiting to sow on field and plain,
Earth's daily bread, got by his hand.
Though angry kings, at war may rage,
For greater might, or greed of gain;
And science searchers, keenly sage,
Still burn the midnight oil in vain.

Mid hunger pangs, in death's dark hour,
When famine devastates the land;
Men own the balance of world power,
Reposes in the farmers hand.

Build as they may, walls of empire,
Laden with gold their ships of Spain;
And with the wealth of all obtain
Fulfillment of each mad desire.

Burst every proud port of the earth,
Anchor their palaces of pride;
And under banners streaming wide
Pour out the purple wine of mirth.

From the luxurious Orient,
Still unto the far golden isles;
Their caravans with treasure sent,
Girdle the circuit of earth's miles.

Yet Joseph, of earth's Israel
The farmer, though his brother's strive;
Their households he will keep alive,
With corn his hand provideth well.

His harvest yields the nations bread,
And with a golden chain they bind;
Into one household, all mankind.
By hunger's pangs discomforted.

The far blue dome over his head,
When twilight shades to amethyst,
Or when the roseate walls of mist
Meeting the day flush deeper red.

The farmer, Lord of peace and mirth,
Whose God has given to his hand,
The power to form a golden band,
That binds the nations of the earth.

Elinore Crisler Haynes.

THE CHANGING WORLD

Not many years ago the open hearth was the kitchen range, the furnace and the lighting fixture all in one. What a hardship preparing a meal used to be!

A woman's workshop is her kitchen. Now, with the wonderful improvements of the past few years, hours spent in the kitchen are a pleasure.

Carding, combing, spinning, hours of monotony spent behind a droning wheel. This was the schedule when a member of the family needed new clothes.

What a change! Hundreds, thousands of beautiful, smart creations are at the disposal of the modern woman who is in need of new clothing.

Washday used to bring aching arms, tired backs, frayed nerves. The average family wash took two days of arduous toil.

How much simpler washday has become! In a few hours, with the help of modern appliances, laundry is done easily, leaving many hours for leisure.

The old-fashioned furnace used to be the cause of countless worries, a lot of drudgery. It was all a part of daily living.

But Today! No more dirt, soot or dusty ashes. No more trouble. Clean, reliable gas heat is practical for every home. Set a little thermostat and the winter's work is done.

Today..

Gas heat brings another joy to comfortable living

● How much easier, how much more enjoyable living has become since the advent of the automobile, the telephone, the gas range, the labor-saving household appliances. Modern devices, regarded as absolute necessities today, once were looked upon as merely newfangled ideas that cost too much to be practical. But their widespread acceptance, their undeniable advantages, swept aside every possible objection. Gas heat is proving every day to thousands of users that it is a practical, reliable and acceptable method of heating. You may be told that gas heat costs too much. The argument of cost has always been offered, as a last resort, when all other arguments have failed to convince. It was so in the case of the automobile, the vacuum cleaner, the gas range, the washing machine. Of course automatic gas heat costs more. But gas heat offers so much more, makes so many savings in money and labor, that it cannot be compared to ordinary heating methods.

Get the facts on gas heat now

We want you to learn the count... pleasures gas heat will bring to y... home. Here is our liberal proposition. We will install gas heat at our expense, remove it at our expense, if you don't like it. You invest not one cent for equipment. We will install a burner in your present boiler or furnace. While you are trying it you pay only a small rental during the heating months—only $3 a month for the burner in the average home. This charge is included with the bill for the gas you use. You try it for one month, two months, a year. If within a year you are not satisfied, we will take it out at our expense and replace your former heating equipment in good workmanlike order. But if you decide to keep gas heat—as thousands of others have done—the rental you have paid applies on the purchase price of the equipment. Get the facts now. Call your nearest Public Service Company office for details.

YOU INVEST NOTHING TO TRY GAS HEAT!

Gas heat can be installed without your investing one cent for equipment. To prove that every home can now afford to heat with gas, we'll install it at our expense—remove it at our expense, if you don't like it. Accept this startling offer. Phone your nearest Public Service Company office TODAY.

Knox Sets Record

Knox College of Galesburg set a new national football record Saturday when they lost their twenty-fifth consecutive grid contest at the hands of Coe by a score of 19 to 0. Knox won their last game October 31, 1931, when they beat Beloit 7 to 0. The former national record was held by Hobart college and established in the year that Knox started their losing streak. Knox also has the distinction of not having scored this season and may extend their streak in the game with Bradley tomorrow.

On the other hand Knox won the Little Nineteen cage championship last season and has excellent prospects for repeating. Helgeson and Myer, former Northwest Conference stars, are expected to see plenty of action on the court at Old Siwash.

Looking Back

We did not miss the final conference standings so very far at that in our pre-season prediction. We picked Libertyville for first and Arlington second. Arlington won and took the top. We picked Leyden to finish in third and they did. We picked Palatine to tie with Leyden for third.

We missed in that we figured the Pirates would win from Barrington. Warren ranked above the Pirates because the latter lost at Barrington. Barrington and Bensenville finished as predicted. Our predictions would have worked out in every case if Palatine had beaten Barrington and Libertyville downed Arlington. Those were our only slips. The two teams we failed to place were the two most hindered by injuries of any in the conference.

Greatest Passers

Bensenville finished their poorest season on record without scoring a point yet they completed the most forward passes of any team in the league. We don't have the records for the Barrington game, but in their four games with Palatine, Arlington, Warren and Leyden the Bensenville team tossed 55 passes and completed 38.

An unusual feature of the conference season is in the fact that for the first time in years there was not a single tie game to mar the schedule. In fact there were very few close games with only four out of 19 games being decided by less than a two touchdown margin.

Hail The Champs

Look in the Chicago Tribune for the photo of the champion Arlington team. It is scheduled to appear in the Sunday edition. Arlington did not have a really close call all season and played every school in the league.

The writer of this column wishes to congratulate Grose on a swell job of coaching and the Arlington team on a great season of play. The title was won against the best competition the conference has offered for many years. Five conference teams were stronger than last year. The more power to the Cardinals.

Steve's First Tackle

Steve Szasz, Arlington co captain and great back, had a new experience for the season in the last game with Barrington. Steve plays safety on defense and made his first tackle of the season. It is not that Steve cannot tackle them, but that the Arlington line and halfbacks had never allowed a man to get past them up to that time in previous conference games. Conn of Barrington has the distinction of making the longest run against Arlington, and Szasz the honor of bringing him down.

Palatine was supposed to open the conference season at Libertyville but it seems there is something going on in Libertyville which will interfere on Friday, December 7, so the coaches have arranged to play the games at Palatine on that date. The second meeting of the teams will be at Libertyville. This is a break in a way for Palatine, who will thus play their first two games at home.

No All-Conference

The Northwest Conference coaches voted a couple of years ago to ask the papers to refrain from picking all conference teams. They have followed this policy. We don't think so much of this policy, but this paper is following it because we want to co-operate with the coaches.

If one were to pick an all conference team the line would be mostly a combination of Arlington and Libertyville players. We are not picking a team, but we challenge anyone to pick one and leave off Zimmerman of Warren, Szasz and Gieseke of Arlington, and Kroll and Madden of Libertyville.

By RAYMOND E. HAYES

Arlington Heights high school's football team completed the winning of the 1934 Northwest conference championship by defeating Barrington 25-0 last Saturday in the final game of the season. The final smashing victory on their home field completed a series of six consecutive winning games for the Cardinals.

The bucking Bronchos from Barrington fought gamely and held the winners for a half, but were unequal to the task during the remainder of the game. Szasz broke loose for a touchdown on a run of 38 yards early in the second quarter. The score was 6-0 at the half.

Superior blocking, speed, and endurance began to show results thereafter, and the Cardinals picked up three more scores, Rohlwing going over the line twice and Weisgerber once.

Barrington put up one of their best fights of the year to really make Arlington work their hardest for a victory. They were handicapped from the very start by the loss of their best tackle, Muir, who twisted a knee so severely that he was unable to play during the remainder of the game.

An accident of this nature tends to demoralize a team, yet in spite of this Barrington fought gamely and at times swept Arlington off their feet with driving play. Particularly, early in the second half, they had Arlington on the run, and but for a misplay would undoubtedly have scored.

Arlington opened activities with three consecutive first downs, the drive ending when the Cardinals launched an air attack only to see their first pass intercepted.

An exchange of punts left Arlington in possession of the ball on Barrington's 38-yard line. On the first play Szasz went off right tackle. Beautiful blocking, especially by Hertel, and fine running put the ball across for the first score. The try for point was missed after two attempts had been ruled out by the officials.

Immediately after the second half opened the Barrington attack reached its high mark. Three successive first downs carried the ball from Arlington's 49-yard line to her 13. Then 6 yards from the goal line and 3 from a first down, Conn attempting a left end run was downed by Redeker on the 19-yard line. The Broncho's never crossed the mid-field line again.

Arlington took the ball on their own 19-yard stripe. Rohlwing went off left tackle on the first play, and made his longest run of the season, 81 yards, to score a touchdown.

The third Cardinal score came in the fourth quarter. Hertel carried the ball from the 19-yard line to the 9. Rohlwing finished the march with an 8-yard smash over right guard. Helm failed on an attempted plunge for point. A few plays later Weisgerber picked off a pass and ran 65 yards behind fine interference for the final touchdown. Helwig accomplished what none of the backs had been able to do when he successfully plunged for the extra point.

Barrington put a good football team on the field. Their line charged well, blocking was above the average, and two ball carriers, Conn and Dotterrer, came up with some fine running attempts. The loser's nine first downs compare favorably with Arlington's 11. Six of the nine were made through the line or around end. Gains of 5 to 10 yards were not infrequent. Conn did a great job of kicking. In only one feature, tackling, were the visitors poor.

The Cardinals put on an exhibition of hard charging, blocking, running, and tackling. Blocking by Meierhoff, Hertel, and Weisgerber was excellent. Rohlwing and Szasz put on a beautiful show. On defense the line refused to give ground anywhere. Barrington's pass attack was held to a minimum gain by excellent work in Arlington's backfield.

LIGHTS CAUSE ACCIDENTS

The Chicago Motor club, in a statement, points out that 8,900 automobiles involved in accidents in 1933 had one or both headlights out, or glaring lights. Tests show that lamps need to be replaced or adjusted in nearly 70 per cent of all automobiles operating on our streets and highways.

Cut Vehicle Tax

Elmhurst last week cut the cost of vehicle licenses for all pleasure cars to $2.50 a year. Truck licenses were also scaled down from 33 to 50 per cent.

Launch Centennial

Elmhurst is launching a movement for a centennial celebration in 1937 to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the coming of the vicinity's first white settlers.

By GERALD A. McELROY

The 1934 grid season in the Northwest Conference has passed into history and Arlington has been crowned champion. The Cardinals came through a tough schedule unscathed and broke a three year monopoly of Libertyville.

Coach Grose had an all round good outfit with a strong fast charging line and a fast and shifty backfield featuring Capt. Szasz and Rohlwing. The line lead by Capt. Gieseke's brilliant end play had the best defensive record in the loop. Arlington's defense was dented only by Libertyville and Leyden.

The Cardinals averaged better than 22 points a game while their opponents had a mark of but a fraction over 2.

Libertyville, picked to win the conference, was defeated only by the Cardinals. Coach Martin's team was hampered by injuries all season and the offense of his team was greatly weakened as a result.

Three Great Linemen

However, Arlington's fine team probably would have won the title even if Libertyville had been in good trim and the Cardinals themselves were not without the same handicap. Martin had three great linemen at Libertyville in Capt. Kroll, Isaacson and Madden, and a good quarterback in Harlan.

Leyden, with a fast light team, was outweighed in every game but finished in the expected third position just where they did last season. This years' Leyden eleven was much superior to the 1933 team and the reason for the failure to rise in the standings was due to the better class of the opposition.

Warren as usual prevented Leyden from capturing second place with a surprise 13 to 12 victory. Sewoski, Arquilla and Williams were mighty good backs but Leyden lacked a husky line plunging fullback and a line heavy enough to check such outfits as Libertyville and Arlington.

Warren, starting with but three veterans and a small squad, was the surprise team of the loop. After losing to Palatine and Arlington the Blue Devils knocked off Barrington, Leyden and Bensenville to tie for third place. They lost to Libertyville in their final game. The all round play of Capt. Zimmerman at quarter and the rapid development of green material under Coach Kelton's direction, helped Warren to a splendid record.

Palatine Beset by Injuries

Palatine, beset by injuries much as was Libertyville, started strong by winning from Warren, but never again had the same combination in the game. The loss at Leyden was to be expected as was that at Arlington, but the loss of Hahnfeldt, one of the best fullbacks in the conference, was the reason for the big scores piled up on the Pirates in those two games. The loss at Barrington was the most unexpected, but that day found the Bronchos at their best. At that Megels' eleven came through with two victories, the best in the school's history.

A strong backfield featuring Hahnfeldt, Mangels, Stroker, Schinkosky and Reuse, found itself greatly handicapped by weaknesses in the line. Reuse in his fourth year was one of the best field generals in the conference, while Helms was outstanding at right end in his first year as a regular.

The bright spot in Barrington's otherwise drab season was their 20 to 13 defeat of Palatine in a game which found Conn and the whole Broncho team demonstrating unexpected ability. Aside from a victory at Bensenville, Barrington could do nothing to speak of with Libertyville, Warren, Arlington and Leyden, all of whom ran up top heavy scores. Conn starred in the backfield while Wendt, Muir and Workman played well in the line.

Bensenville failed to score, and the best they could do on defense was hold the opposition to two touchdowns. Nevertheless the Orange team has one consolation. They were the most successful team in the conference in forward passing. Bensenville had the smallest squad and the lightest team in the conference. Capt. Jennings at quarterback was the outstanding player for Johnson's team.

PALATINE VS. ARLINGTON

Palatine's town eleven will play Arlington's town team at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the Red Wing ball park in Arlington Heights. This is the return game of a series in the first of which Arlington defeated Palatine 12-0 at Palatine.

ST. JAMES 18, ST. PETER 6

St. Jams school eleven defeated the St. Peter's school gridder 18-6 Wednesday afternoon in a game played on the St. James field. Robert O'Hagen. Brennan Roache, and William Hall csroed touchdowns for the winners; Clifford White for St. Peter's.

Coach Tells About Boys On Championship Eleven; Four Seniors Are Stars

By JOHN L. GROSE

Arlington Heights, both the town and the high school, can justly feel proud of the record of the Cardinals in the football season just completed. There was little to indicate when the season opened that they were to emerge after one defeat in the first game with Maine, with a list of seven straight victories. And in none of these was there the slightest doubt that Arlington was the better team.

Rolling up a total of 149 points in the eight games played as against 33 by opponents, the Cardinals maintained a record of scoring almost 20 points per game as 4 for opponents. In Conference play the record was even better—135 points as against 14 for opponents. This makes an average of 24 points as against opponents' 2 in each game.

Captain Szasz and Rohlwing were responsible for 94 of these points in Conference play. These two stellar backs of the Cardinals were unstoppable this season. Other Cardinal scorers were Hertel, Weisgerber, Johnson, Michaels, Helwig, and Meierhoff.

Four Players Outstanding

Four boys stood out in the play of the Cardinals this fall—co-captains Gieseke and Szasz and Rohlwing and Helm. Two of these, Szasz and Rohlwing, were backs. The other two, Gieseke and Helm, were linemen.

Szasz and Rohlwing were unquestionably the greatest pair of running backs ever developed at Arlington, and among the best in the history of the Northwest Conference. Szasz probably held a slight edge due to his uncanny ability to keep his feet when hitting. His style differed from Rohlwing's. Szasz ran with a shifting, twisting, driving run coupled with speed, while Rohlwing depended largely upon sheer speed plus a terrific amount of drive for a 150-pound back.

Both were exceptionally good blockers, being particularly adept at running blocks down the field. Both were exceptionally alert at shifting from defensive to offensive play. This past season Szasz developed into a smart quarterback, and there was none better in the Conference at running back punts.

"Clipper" Gieseke, co-captain with Szasz, is the best all-round end ever to wear the Cardinal. Being a vicious tackler, he yet excelled at blocking. He met hardly a tackle all year that he was unable to handle alone, and often times gave as much as 45 pounds weight advantage to his opponent. Yet he completely smothered him. Gieseke was always to be seen leading the "mopping up" crew down the field ahead of the ball carriers. His grin after a murderous tackle or a driving block will be long remembered at Arlington.

Conditioning Aids Helm

Helm had one of the hardest assignments of the entire team. He showed last summer that he was going to be of value this fall by his hard work at conditioning himself. And it was this condition that carried him through the year. On defense he played a roving line position, and played in front of the so-called "spearhead" of the opponents' attack.

At this he absorbed a lot of punishment, and came back for more. It was his ability to pile up plays that had a large part in stopping opponents' offense. Coupled with Helwig, he opened up many a hole for a lot of Szasz's long gains.

Helwig, a veteran at tackle, was slowed up by a sprained ankle in the first game, but soon rounded into form. Strength at tackles was one of Arlington's biggest assets, and one of the main reasons for the low score of opponents this year. Jim was the best of Arlington's tackles.

Hertel and Weisgerber split time at one back position. Both were depended upon to kick, block, and for their defensive ability. Hertel, like Helwig, sustained an ankle injury which didn't respond to treatment until late in the season. Hertel was about the best defensive and blocking back. Late in the season he developed into a very good ball carrier. Weisgerber excelled at kicking and passing. He rose to his best game against Libertyville.

10 Seniors On Squad

Hecklin had the misfortune to be chosen as Captain Gieseke's understudy. He was good enough to be a regular under other circumstances. He more than capably filled Gieseke's position during the time the latter was out with his injured knee.

Schulenberg and Milligan round out the list of 10 seniors on the squad. Both were quite capable, but due to a lack of weight were not quite able to fit into the starting lineup. No one could have asked a better co-operative spirit than each showed all year.

At the beginning of the year it was rather doubtful as to who would be able to cover the other guard, tackle, and end jobs. Scolaro was used considerably last year at guard, and at once asserted himself as capable of holding down that position. Being the lightest man on the starting eleven he split time with Phillippi, an up and coming sophomore. Between the two of them (and there wasn't much to choose between them) they took such good care of the right guard that there was no worry there. Mueller, a junior, understudied Helm, and will be a valuable man next year.

Underclassmen Will Return

Bill Harrah, a sophomore, and Otto Masny, a junior, ably took care of the right tackle job. Redeker, a sophomore, and Helfogt, a junior, held down right end. These four boys played fine ball this year and should be stars next.

Myron Masny has been the regular center for two years and has one more left. He has been a fine passer and a good blocker and defensive. To have a center of his calibre takes a load off a coach's mind to start with.

Pat Meierhoff, a sophomore, was given the wingback assignment, and justified his selection at this position. He did the best job of blocking from a wingback position Arlington has ever had, and when called upon, carried the ball in veteran style. He no doubt will be largely depended upon next year.

Michael, Johnson, Kopplin, Dreschel, and Dearie were reserve backs who did well this year and are available next. Michaels and Johnson particularly were used in every game.

The morale of the squad was fine all year and this, no doubt, was one of the main reasons Arlington was able to finish the season undefeated in Conference play. The pleasure of working with this sort of a squad is one that a coach seldom has.

Libertyville Businessmen Give Banquet for Team

Members of the Libertyville high school football squad will be guests of their local businessmen Tuesday night at the annual banquet given in honor of the grid team. Ralph Jones, coach of Lake Forest college, will be the principal speaker.

For a number of years this banquet has also been in honor of the winning of the conference football championship. However, this year, that feature will be omitted as Libertyville has taken second place.

Niles Center Wins 25-0 From Maine; First Play Scores

Playing the best game of the year, Niles Center High School triumphed, by a wide margin, over the heavy Maine township high school junior varsity in their annual football frav at Maine, Friday afternoon, 25 to 0.

Maine, outweighing the visitors 15 pounds to the man, were unable to stop the power plunges of Morf and Virgil Van Cleave, or the speedy off tackle runs of "Chuck" Wilson. Maine had accounted for one lone first down during the first half, while Coach Isaacson's boys were hammering away for nine first downs, three touchdowns, and a 19 to 0 count.

The Maine defense stiffened in the second half. An increased offense counted five first downs to four for Niles Center, who scored on an intercepted pass by Ernest Van Cleave.

A sleeper play with a pass, Wilson to Nollohan, accounted for the first touchdown on the opening play of the game. Wilson failed at try for goal. Virgil Van Cleave wiggled through broken offense for the second marker. Wilson drop-kicked the extra point. Morf smashed through for the third touchdown a few minutes later.

Leyden cosed the season at Bensenville last Friday when they overpowered Bensenville 26 to 0. The running attack of the Eagles traveled a total of 414 yards from scrimmage and piled up 16 first downs while Bensenville was gaining but 23 yards by rushing. Bensenville's forward passes were their sole offense and they completed seven of them for 80 yards.

Watson's eleven scored in both the first and second quarters to lead 13 to 0 at the half and then came back for 13 more points in the third period. Arquila, diminutive halfback, was the star as the Eagles ran through and around the Bensenville outfit for long gains almost at will.

Bensenville, with few boys out for football and a light inexperienced team, played the whole game without a substitution. Capt. Jennings was the most successful ball carrier for Bensenville. Jenning and Freeman were outstanding in the Bensenville aerial attack.

HARRIERS CLASH TOMORROW

Victorious in all four of their races this season, Wisconsin's cross country runner will meet Illinois tomorrow in the final match of the season. Starting with only two lettermen, Coach Tom Jones, has brought along a team that is consistently looking better, and will give the Illini harriers a stiff run.

ARLINGTON 7, HINSDALE 0

In an even battle with no scoring until the third quarter, Arlington Heights' town team defeated Hinsdale 7-0 last Sunday at Hinsdale. The touchdown was made by "Red" Koelling on a right end run. He also scored the point after touchdown with a place kick.

There Is Patriotism

Don't forget to attend the Eagle's dance, which is the first given by the Park Ridge aerie in the Eagles club rooms Nov. 24, 1934, Saturday.

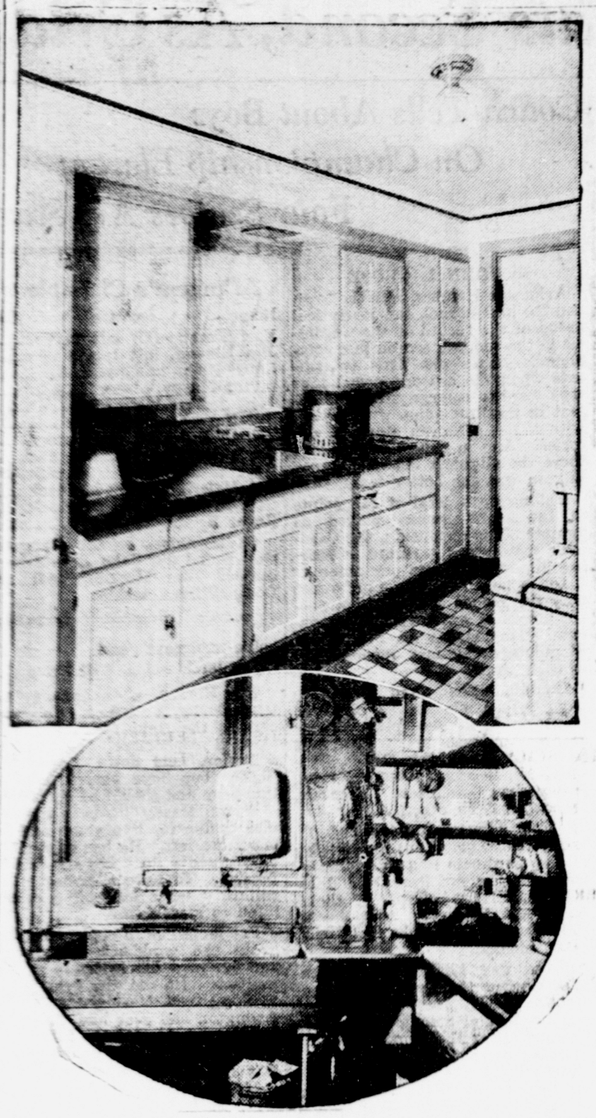

The evidence that has come out during the United States Senate munitions inquiry may cause some to wonder if there was or is any real patriotism anywhere. Then to Eagles comes the warm recollection of our Order's stand during the war. And from that comes confidence in America, in the common man, whatever the actions and record of her professors. Our Order's war record should be told to every new member. These new Eagles should know about the patriotic measures adopted by the Grand Aerie immediately after the United States entered the conflict. The Order paid the dues of every member in uniform that his dependents might be assured of free medical care and other forms of protection that the Order gives an Eagle's family. Ours was the first organization to take such action. Then the men of the Order not in uniform contributed to a Patriotic Fund for which to pay $1,000 to the dependants of every Eagle who died as a result of his war services. Again ours was the first Order to take this step. We have disbursed nearly $1,500,000 from the Patriotic Fund. And, though the war was ended sixteen years ago this month, we are still paying those $1,000 gratuities whenever an Eagle, in good standing in 1917-18, dies from war service causes.

When you are reading about profits in the millions of dollars that the unscrupulous garnered during that trying time, remember what the Eagles did and are doing. The Eagles do not forget—in war or in peace, in prosperity or depression. Now is the time to remember that, and to tell the inspiring story to our young men.

Improvement of Kitchen Among FHA Possibilities

Drab, dingy kitchens make a veritable ordeal of the task of preparing meals. Particularly is this true when the kitchen has a poor arrangement of equipment and is lacking in up-to-date facilities for the housewife. Kitchens of this type usually are those that were built years ago, before the modern kitchen improvements were available. Any old kitchen, no matter how great its shortcomings, can be transformed into a place of beauty and charm, and made comfortable and convenient. Why not include such a project as your part of Palatine's Better Housing program, now under way.

If there is not enough natural light, windows can be enlarged or additional ones installed. Darkness can be further dispelled by placing a drop light over the stove or in other places where there is not sufficient light.

Cupboards, cabinets, shelves and bins can be built to provide for convenient storage of food, cooking utensils and dishes. If there is unutilized space beneath the drain board or the sink it can be used for a vegetable bin, and perhaps save many steps to the back porch or the basement. Serving dishes stored in the old-fashioned cupboard in the dining room can just as well be placed in twin cupboards at each side above the sink.

Above are actual photographs of a kitchen before and after modernizing. The new kitchen has all the latest conveniences: Built-in cabinets, built-in sink with large shelves and drain at a most convenient height, colorful linoleum floor, tile walls, built-in light above the sink, an automatic cooking range, mechanical refrigerator, Built-in broom closet and ironing board—and other conveniences.

How nice it is to have a place for everything, with no unsightly open racks or shelves as in the photograph of the old kitchen above.

What a pleasure it is to prepare a meal in a room like this!

You can buy a new kitchen now without down payment and on easy monthly terms through credit facilities opened up by the National Housing act. Ask your local bank or other financial institution cooperating with the Federal Housing administration about their loans for modernizing.

West's Latest Picture Is Set "In Gay 90's"

"Belle of the Nineties" coming to the Des Plaines Theatre next Wednesday, Thursday, for two days only, the third of the Mae West starring pictures to come from Paramount, shows the blonde siren again in a setting of the gay '90's, which was the period of her first picture, "She Done Him Wrong."

Surrounded by three screen sweethearts, Roger Pryor, John Mack Brown and John Miljan, together with Duke Ellington and his orchestra, Katherine DeMille, Warren Hymer and Stuart Holmes, Mae West essays the role of the country's most sensational burlesque queen of the period.

As "American Beauty," Mae West becomes involved with an ambitious young prize fighter, Roger Pryor, of St. Louis, but, through the plotting of the prize fighter's manager, the romance is broken up, and Mae West accepts an opportunity to leave St. Louis to become queen of a popular gambling palace in New Orleans.

The men of New Orleans welcome her to the city, and John Miljan's gambling house becomes the most popular rendezvous in town. Miljan decides to back a young prize fighter, Pryor, Mae West's "St. Louis man," and, in order to get money for this enterprise, induces Pryor to rob Mae West of her diamonds.

SCHOOLS

WILSON SCHOOL, DIST. 24

We have been practicing for our coming evening Achievement meeting which is to be held at the school house on Friday evening, November 23, at 8 o'clock. Everyone is invited.

The enrollment in our school this year has increased to 45. The board members have purchased additional seats.

Our school grounds have been greatly improved by the new sidewalks.

We are going to have new curtains for our cloak rooms. With the money won at the choral contest and that donated by the Ladies' Community club, curtain material was purchased. Mrs. Martin Albrecht sewed the curtains for us. Two curtain poles with rings to match were also purchased.

Dorothy and Lewis Maierhofer were ill for some time after school began, but we are glad that they have returned. Wallace Moss is at the Evanston hospital and is to remain there for a few more weeks. We will miss him at our Achievement program.

At the first Achievement meeting of our club this year, the following officers were elected:

President, Isabel Wagner.
Vice president, Alex Spasovich.
Secretary, Dorothy Guenther.
Treasurer, Melvin Preston.

BOX ELDER SCHOOL, DIST. 60

Friday evening at 8, we will have an achievement program at our school. Our program will consist of a model achievement meeting, songs, recitations and short plays. We are all working hard to give our parents and friends an enjoyable evening.

The Achievement club is having a blanket drawing. The money will be used to buy needed library books. Last year we also had a drawing and bought a reading chart for the first grade.

We have lost six of our schoolmates since school began. Howard and Robert Cosman moved to Seattle, Washington. Edwin and Lawrence Semmerling moved to Morton Grove. Clifford and Vernette Sell moved to a new home on Wolf road. We were all sorry to see our friends leave; but we wish them good luck and happiness in their new homes.

Mr. Breitenfeldt had a letter from Howard Cosman, and read it to us in school. Howard wrote that they had little trouble with their car, and that they traveled 2,485 miles on their trip. He also wrote that it is very pretty traveling in the mountains; and that he saw many cowboys, cattle, horses and sheep.

CLEAN STOVES, FURNACES SAVE HEATING COSTS

Competent Overhauling of Flues, Chimney, Equipment Advisable

The little, dirty, old-fashioned chimney sweep may have passed into history, but the need for cleaning the home heating equipment each fall is just as great as ever, in the opinion of E. W. Lehmann, head of the agricultural engineering department at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Every year many home owners condemn their furnaces and stoves because they require so much more coal to keep the house warm, when the real trouble is that the equipment has not been cleaned thoroughly in the past year. The heating surfaces of the furnace may be covered with ashes and the flues clogged with soot. In such case there is bound to be a waste of fuel and increased coal bills.

No one should ever start the winter without a thorough examination of the furnace or stove to make certain that the equipment is in first-class condition, points out Lehmann. If the heating plant is an old one, some of the principal parts may need replacing. The firepot and the radiating surface of the warm-air furnace may be cracked, or the grates may have become warped and twisted so that unburned coal drops through to the ash box.

Besides the loss of fuel in an attempt to heat a house with a dirty furnace, there is always danger of fire caused by burning soot in the smoke pipes and flues. This same risk is also present in the case of heating stoves and ranges, when the equipment has not been cleaned out before fall fires are started.

ABOUT POULTRY

By A. A. Paltz

Poultry Prospects Are Improving Rapidly

Last Spring due to the low price of eggs and poultry meat, the number of baby chicks raised dropped off considerably. Probably 20% to 25% fewer chicks were started on Middlewestern Farms than during the preceeding year.

Summer brought one of the most disasterous droughts in history. Feed prices shot up and as a result poultry was marketed in great numbers. Many farms reduced their flocks to just a few birds.

Now the market reporters tell us that feed prices are about as high as they will go unless some form of inflation takes place. Furthermore, with a good crop next year, it may be expected that the spread between feed prices and egg prices will be very favorable to eggs.

In fact, the present market price of eggs enables poultry raisers to make good profit by feeding carefully.

And due to the shortage of poultry in the United States, it would seem advisable to hang on to the good layers and plan to start an adequate number of chicks in the Spring.

Red Meat Prices to Go Higher

The Department of Agriculture has warned us that the prices of Red Meats—beef, pork and mutton will go higher next year because of the shortage of meat animals caused by the drought.

High prices for red meats always affect egg and poultry prices favorably. So it seems that even the most conservative poultryman can expect good profits during the next 18 months ahead.

Free Poultry Bulletins

The Illinois Experiment Station publishes some very helpful Bulletins which should be in the hands of every poultry raiser. The bulletins listed below may be obtained by addressing: University of Illinois, College of Agriculture, Urbana, Ill.

Bulletin 337—"Housing Farm Poultry."

Bulletin 285—"Feeding for Egg Production."

Bulletin 333—"Poultry Farm Equipment."

Note: Mr. Paltz is a Poultryman of long experience and will be glad to answer your questions about poultry. Address all correspondence direct to Mr. A. A. Paltz, Sunny Croft Hatchery, Palatine, Illinois.

Public Service Company Urges Importance of Red Cross Work

"The advent of the annual Red Cross Roll Call from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, brings to mind an important part of Red Cross work which is perhaps less well known than its service in disasters," says Dr. Hart E. Fisher, chief surgeon of the medical bureau of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

"That work," said Dr. Fisher, "is the fostering of first aid training. When emergency strikes, it is important that someone know what to do until the doctor comes. Inspired by the Red Cross, more than a million men and women thruout the country are familiar with first aid, particularly the Schaefer method of artifical respiration. The result is that a large number of people are alive today who would otherwise have lost their lives through accidents.

"In the Public Service company, our employees are trained in first aid using the Red Cross' excellent book on that subject. Time and again this training has been responsible for the saving of human life. Employees have used their first knowledge, especially the Schaefer method. to save nearly 50 lives among the public in the last few years.

"Teams selected from among employees trained in first aid have competed regularly in the Red Cross Annual first aid contest for industries and other organizations sponsoring first aid. Public Service teams competing in the Red Cross contests have later given any number of demonstrations before schools, boy scout groups, clubs, police and fire departments, and civic organizations.

With the work of the Red Cross spreading its acts of mercy in many directions, the importance of contributing to the annual roll call cannot be overemphasized in the opinion of Dr. Fisher.
